15TH YEAR. NO 221. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, MARCH. 1, 1900. TWO CENTS

TARIFF FOR THE ISLAND.

Porto Ricon Measure Went Through the House.

PASSED BY A VOTE OF 161 TO 172.

Six Republicans Balloted Against Bill and Four Democrats For It—Six Men Brought From Beds of Sickness—Sibley's Clash With Democrats.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The battle royal over the Porto Ricon tariff bill ended in the house in victory for the Republicans. The bill, amended as agreed upon at the conference of Republicans on Monday night, so as to reduce the tariff from 25 to 15 per cent of the American tariff, and limiting its life to two years, was passed by a vote of 172 yeas to 161 nays. Six Republicans, Messrs. Crumbacher (Ind.), Fletcher (Minn.), Heatwole (Minn.), Littlefield (Me.), Lorimer (Ills.), and McCall (Mass.), voted with the opposition against the bill, and four Democrats, Messrs. Davey and Myer (La.), Devries (Cal.), and Sibley (Pa.), voted with the Republicans for the bill. In addition, Mr. Warner (Rep., Ills.) was paired against the bill with Mr. Boutelle (Rep., Me.), for it.

Two other Republicans, Mr. Lane (Ia.) and Faris (Ind.) were absent and unpaired. They were understood to be against the bill. Four Democrats who were opposed to the bill, Messrs. Fleming, (Ga.), Small (N. C.), Smith (Ky.) and Stallings (Ala.) were absent and unpaired. Other pairs were Gibson (Tenn.), Reeves (Ills.), Boutelle (Me.), Harmer (Pa.), Bailey (Kan.), Sheldon (Mich.), Wadsworth (N. Y.), all Republicans, for the bill, with Tate (Ga.), Parkman (Fla.), Fox (Miss.), Bellamy (N. C.), Cox (Tenn.) and Epes (Va.), Democrats, all against the bill. Herculean efforts had been made to get out the full vote and this led to some remarkable incidents.

Six men were brought from beds of sickness; two of them from hospitals. Mr. Brownlow, of Tennessee, was brought in a carriage accompanied by his wife and physician. He sat bundled up near the entrance until his vote was given, and then withdrew. It was felt that the strain would be severe on him, but when Mr. Tawney, the Republican whip, urged that the bill might be lost by this one vote, Mr. Brownlow said: "I would rather lose my life than see this bill defeated." Mr. Tawney and three assistants were out in carriages until midnight Tuesday night accounting for every vote, and Mr. Underwood, the Democratic whip, was similarly exerting every means to get out his vote. Three Democrats were brought from sick beds.

The first test was on a substitute offered by Mr. McCall, on behalf of the opposition. It was the original Payne bill for free trade with Porto Rico, and was defeated, 160 to 174. Only five Republicans voted for the substitute. Mr. Fletcher (Rep., Minn.), who subsequently voted to recommit and against the bill, voted against the substitute. A motion to recommit it, which followed, shared a similar fate, being lost, 160 to 172. There was great excitement throughout the roll calls, which were followed with eager interest by thousands of spectators, who packed the galleries to suffocation. The Republicans indulged in a demonstration of wild jubilation when the final result was announced.

During the debate Mr. Sibley (Pa.) announced his intention of voting for the bill. While we were debating the situation the people of Porto Rico were starving.

"The emergency," interrupted Mr. Williams (Ills.), "is not in Porto Rico, but in the politics of the Republican party." [Democratic applause.]

Mr. Sibley—You have located the politics on the wrong side. [Republican applause.]

Mr. Williams—It is pretty hard to locate you. [Laughter.]

Mr. Sibley replied that, as he had said before, his seat could be considered constructively on the Republican side. Continuing, he said that if it was established that every foot of territory owned by the United States was on absolute equality, then he was opposed to the whole policy of expansion. If the inhabitants of the Philippines could compete with American production and American labar, he was willing to give the archipelago to Aguinaldo.

Mr. Sibley concluded with a scathing characterization of his Democratic critics.

Porto Ricon Tests His Citizenship.

WASHINGTON,, March 1.—Suit was filed in the United States court of claims by Ludwig Duplace, of Porto Rico, to recover $6,534, which he has paid as customs duties on goods imported from the United States. He bases his right to recover on the claim that he is a citizen of the United States, under the treaty of peace with Spain and the constitution of the United States.

COMES TO VOTE TODAY.

Hawaiian Bill to Be Acted Upon In the Senate—McLaurin Spoke For Expansion.

WASHINGTON, March 1. — Notwithstanding the agreement made by the senate to vote on the Hawaiian government bill at Wednesday's session, the final vote on the measure was postponed until 4 o'clock today. Practically no progress was made on the bill Wednesday, although it was under consideration nearly four hours.

Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, at the opening of the session, made an explanation of the work of the conferees on the financial measure, his statement resulting in an expected and spirited debate.

One of the features of the session was the speech of Mr. McLaurin (Dem., S. C.) on the Philippine question.

He is the first Democrat in the senate to declare himself for expansion. He scouted what he termed the "bugbear of imperialism," with which some of his colleagues were trying to frighten the people, declared the question was not one of politics and maintained the acquisition of the Philippines would be of immense advantage to this country, especially the south, by opening to the United States the trade of the Orient.

IDAHO STRIKE INVESTIGATION.

A Publisher Told of Arrest and Confinement In "Bull Pen."

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The investigation of the course of the United States military forces in connection with the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, mining troubles was resumed by the house committee on military affairs. Wilbur H. Stewart, publisher of a paper at Mullan, Ida., a town near the scene of rioting, testified in part that he was arrested without a warrant at his office by State Auditor Bartlett Sinclair and an army officer. Mr. Sinclair stated to witness that he was accused of publishing seditious matter. A special train took him to Wallace and, after a night in jail, he was put in the "bull pen."

He said he was compelled by the negro soldiers to do revolting work. Mr. Stewart testified that when he got sick and refused to do the work on account of illness, the negro soldiers used obscene language and oaths against him, until the corporal of the guard made them desist.

TO APPEAL TO CONGRESS.

Kentucky Republicans Propose a Joint Convention of States to Secure an Election Law.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 1.—The Republican joint caucus of the legislature, after a long discussion concerning election laws in the south, and particularly the Goebel election law in this state, decided to take the initiative in a movement to bring the matter before congress.

The purpose is to call a convention, in which the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia are to take part, at which convention action is to be taken memorializing the congress to amend the national election laws so as to take out of the hands of the election machinery of the various state governments the details of at least congressional and presidential elections.

Couple Found Dead.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Morris Speidel and Myrtle Johnson were found dead at the house of Mrs. Cora Pforr, who rents out rooms, at 439 Third avenue. It is supposed they suicided. Speidel was employed at the Columbia hotel and the Johnson woman was an inmate of Margaret Le Roy's house at 525 Third avenue.

WOE IN LADYSMITH

Besieged Suffer From Bad Water and Heat.

LOW VITALITY AMONG SOLDIERS.

Would Probably Hold Their Own Against Attack, but Cannot Take Initiative. Others Suffer From Fever Dysentery and Diarrhœa.

LONDON, March 1.—General Buller's tidings come weighted with his long list of casualties. His losses in the four attempts to get General White out aggregate 4,000.

Ladysmith is in desperate straits. Charles Williams, the military expert, says he learns on very high authority—presumably that of Lord Wolesley—that "General White's force is almost at its last gasp."

"This is not so much," says Mr. Williams, "on account of any lack of provisions or of ammunition, neither of which is yet exhausted, as because of the poisonous waters of the Klip river and the evil effects of the heat on the Terrain, in which the garrison must reside. Even those who have escaped fever, dysentery and diarrhœa are in a state of low vitality. They can still man trenches, and would probably hold their own against a last desperate assault, but they can initiate nothing. General Buller now knows that, as units, the regiments will be of no use to him for months.

"The water of Klip river is not available for drinking, and to boil it is impossible, because of the scarcity of fuel. It is thick with putrid animal matter. Tea made of it has a suspended fiber, something like beef tea. It is caused by the sewage from the Boer camp."

Mr. Williams adds that when news like this passes under the thumb of the censor it more than offsets whatever jolly news may be heliographed from Ladysmith.

General Buller's distinct success in storming Pieter's hill brings the rescue of Ladysmith near, but the war office intimated late last evening that an immediate announcement of relief need not be expected. The goings to and fro at midnight of officials and messengers suggested that important news had been received. If this were the case, Lord Lansdowne obviously desired to sleep on it before taking the public into his confidence.

As his message reveals, General Buller's successful attack came after the hard fighting of Friday, and it was improvised and its execution begun during the armistice of Sunday. In proposing the armistice, the British commander stipulated that both sides should be free to move, but that neither should do any shooting. He was, therefore, within his privileges in immediately beginning to transfer his troops.

There is no authoritative indication yet of what Lord Roberts will do next. It seems likely that a branch railway will be built across the veldt, to lessen the difficultiee of transport. Colonel Girouard, who built the Soudan railway, is with Lord Roberts. The strain on the Western railway is seen from the fact that the population of Kimberley, two weeks after the relief, continues on reduced rations. Lord Roberts' troops, thus far, have been only partially fed.

It is quite clear to technical heads that those who talk of an immediate and rapid advance far into the Free State do not realize the transport conditions. The Boers, as it now appears, have built a railway from Harrismith to Kroomstadt to facilitate the movement of their troops between Natal and the Free State.

Mafeking was holding out on Feb. 6. At that time the Boers were showing unusual activity and firing inflammable shells.

The Boers who hold positions south of the Orange river have been weakened.

Lieutenant Barentzen, writing on behalf of himself and of other Scandivavian prisoners, affirms that there are no mercenaries in the Boer army and no volunteers who receive a penny for their services.

PIETERS' HILL CAPTURED.

Buller Reported a Gallant and Successful Attack by British Soldiers.

LONDON, March 1.—The war office received the following dispatch from General Buller:

"HEADQUARTERS, Alandwani, Feb. 28.—Finding that the passage of Langewachts spruit was commanded by strong intrenchments, I reconnoitered from another passage of the Tugela. One was found for me below the cataract by Colonel Sandbach, Royal Engineers, on Feb. 25. We commenced making an approach thereto, and on Feb. 26, finding that I could make the passage practicable, I crossed the guns and baggage back to the south side of the Tugela, took up the pontoon bridge on Monday night and relayed it at the new site, which is just below the point marked cataract. During all this time the troops had been scattered, crouching under hastily constructed small stone shelters and exposed to a galling shell and rifle fire, and throughout they maintained the most excellent spirits.

"Tuesday General Barton, with two battalions of the Sixth brigade and the Dublin Fusiliers, crept about a mile and a half down the banks of the river, and ascended an almost perpendicular cliff of about 500 feet, assaulted and carried the top of Pieter's hill. This hill, to a certain extent, turned the enemy's left and the Fourth brigade, under Colonel Norcott, and the Eleventh brigade, Colonel Kitchener commanding, the whole under command of General Warren, assaulted the enemy's position which was magnificently carried by the South Lancashire regiment about sunset. We took about 60 prisoners and scattered the enemy in all directions. There seems to be still a considerable body of them left on and under Bulwana mountain.

"Our losses, I hope, are not large. They certainly are much less than they would have been were it not for the admirable manner in which the artillery was served, especially the guns manned by the Royal naval force and the Natal naval volunteers.

ADVISED HILL TO OPEN LETER

Congressman Campbell Testified In the Clark Senatorial Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Congressman Campbell, chief counsel for the prosecution in the Clark case, was on the stand during the greater part of the day before the senate committee on elections. He said that while he had attended the preliminary conference of friends of Mr. Clark, which resulted in the anti-Daly campaign, he had not heard much of the talk, having gone to sleep. He had given the Clark people no formal notice when he decided to discontinue his allegiance to Mr. Clark, and he did not become unfriendly to Mr. Clark until he became dissatisfied with his campaign methods.

He emphatically denied Ben Hill's statement that he (Campbell) had opened the Bickford letter bearing upon the prosecution of Mr. Whiteside, but confessed that he had advised Hill to open it, saying that he felt it to be so important to Whiteside to protect him from an unjust prosecution that he would have advised this course even if he had been familiar with the penal statutes, which he was not.

Lieutenant Waugh Killed Himself.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—General Otis reported to the war department that Second Lieutenant John R. Waugh, Thirty-ninth volunteer infantry, shot himself through the heart while temporarily deranged from extreme nervousness, on the 27th inst., at Manila. Lieutenant Waugh was born in Nebraska in 1876.

Killed In the Philippines.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 1.—A letter received from Bandmaster Mestrezaat, of the Thirteenth regiment, states that Joe Burns, of the band, of Pittsburg, was killed in the Philippines. Butler Clark, another Pittsburger, has been discharged and will be sent home on account of sunstroke, from which he may never recover. Eight men killed and many wounded are the result of the campaign in the south during January, the letter says.

Given More Time.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—An order was made in common pleas court No. 1 yesterday on the representations of Attorneys Clarence Burleigh and Willis T. McCook, giving all the defendants except three in the Frick-Carnegie case 15 more days to answer.

Triple Tragedy In West Virginia.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., March 1.—Joseph Glean, a farmer living near here, killed his daughter and her lover and then cut his own throat. Glean had forbidden Albert Marsh to call upon his daughter.

FOUR FIRES TO FIGHT

Blazes In New York, Apparently Incendiary.

LIVES OF THREE CHILDREN LOST.

Firemen and Policemen Made a Number of Thrilling Rescues—An Apartment House and Tenement Gutted—Other Fires Easily Extinguished.

NEW YORK, March 1.—A fierce fire broke out in a tenement at 1691 Third avenue. The police and firemen made many thrilling rescues, and after the fury of the flames had been spent the bodies of three children were found in the ruins. They are thought to be the children of Edward Friedman, who lived on the top floor of the building.

A dozen or more people were rescued in a semi-conscious or unconscious condition. Policeman Thomas Tracy did valorous services, entering the burning building repeatedly and finally dropping on the third floor overcome by smoke. His comrades carried him out unconscious and he was sent to the Presbyterian hospital. He will recover.

Another policeman carried out a 5-five-year old boy who was found almost dead on the third floor.

The fire broke out in the basement of the building and the entire structure was destroyed. The financial loss is about $25,000.

While the firemen were fighting this fire, another broke out on Third avenue, just five blocks away, under almost similar circumstances. The fire was quickly extinguished. At the same time there was a fire burning at 1828 Second avenue, very close at hand, where a four-story flat house was entirely gutted. Here, also, the police and firemen made a number of rescues.

A few minutes later, about midway between the two fires on Third avenue, a fourth fire broke out at 1755, in the bottom of an air shaft.

This was also easily extinguished.

The police and Chief Crocker of the fire department are strongly of the opinion that the fires were prearranged and the work of incendiary origin.

MRS. SCHMIDTLAPP DEAD.

She and an Unknown Woman Victims of Missouri Pacific Wreck.

KANSAS CITY, March 1.—Two are dead, one is dying and six others are more or less seriously injured as a result of the tail end collision on the Missouri Pacific railroad, near Independence, Mo.

The Dead.

Mrs. J. G. Schmidtlapp, of Cincinnati, wife of millionaire J. G. Schmidtlapp.

Unknown woman, cremated, believed to be from St. Louis.

Injured.

Miss Emma Schmidtlapp, of Cincinnati, cannot live.

W. R. Vaughan, a Cincinnati newspaper man, arm broken in two places.

Mrs. J. Balke, mother of Mrs. Schmidtlapp, arm broken, badly burned about face.

J. G. Schmidtlapp, husband of Mrs. Schmidtlapp, arm broken and head bruised.

L. F. Sheldon, Sedalia, badly bruised and cut.

William Ryan, baggagemaster, slightly injured.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Flagman Laid Down and Engine Ran Partly Over Him.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Jacob M. Adams, a West Penn flagman, slipped on the icy track before a slowly running engine. After trying to crawl from in front of the train, he laid down flat, the engine passing partly over him. The ashbox was just squeezing him when the engine was stopped.

In an interview, he expressed a conviction that the Lord had spared his life.

Killed by a Fall.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Peter Engel, a slate roofer, was killed in Bellevue by falling from the roof of a new house on Jackson street, where he was at work. His neck was broken and he sustained a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

WILL LAST FIVE YEARS.

CHARLES GOODBALLET ON PHILIPPINE WAR.

Sick People In East End—Postoffice receipts Make Good Showing.

Conrad Goodballet, of Helana, yesterday received a letter from his brother, Charles Goodballet, a member of Co. H, Seventh infantry, now in the Philippines. The letter was written at Angeles. Goodballet states that in his opinion it will be at least five years before the United States troops conquer the Filipinos, as they are continually appearing in all parts of the islands in squads, and after firing a few shots, retreat, without doing any harm to the United States soldiers.

Goodballet says he is enjoying good health but is getting homesick. He does not expect to get back to Liverpool for several years. Goodballet is well known in East End, having resided there before his enlistment.

Among the Sick.

Doctor Calhoun is able to be out after a few weeks' illness.

Contractor John Schmelzenbach was walking the East End streets yesterday afternoon for the first time since he became ill, which was six weeks ago.

William House, of St. George street, is very.

Harvey Hazlett, of Dry Run, is very ill with grip.

Trimming Stone.

Contractor John Schmelzenbach, who has the contract for the stone work for the East End school, has a number of stone masons at work trimming stones for the steps and sills. The contractor stated yesterday afternoon that the balance of his contract would be completed within the next month if the weather was favorable.

Postoffice Receipts.

The receipts for the East End postoffice for the month of February, which closed last evening, showed a decrease over the business transacted during the previous month. The receipts were, stamps sold $99.66, money order business $540.39. It being a short month the receipts were considered very large.

Real Estate Deals Pending.

A real estate dealer stated yesterday afternoon that a number of deals for real estate in that part of the city were pending, and that at least one large lot on Pennsylvania avenue would change hands within the next 10 days.

Had a Good Time.

The social given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sue Smith on St. George street was well attended, and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Birth.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. William Jewell, of Helana, a son.

Attorney General's Decision Regarding Boards of Health.

Attorney General Sheets has rendered two opinions in answer to queries from Secretary Probst, of the state board of health. In one of them he holds that county, township, village and city boards of health have no authority in law for charging fees for the issuing of burial permits or for any other function with which they may be charged. He has also given the opinion that members of a sanitary police force have the same power as ordinary policemen in making arrests without warrants.

WILL START EXCAVATING

NEXT MONDAY FOR THE NEW HOUSES.

Charles Moore Going to Colorado News of Chester People and About Grant District.

Everything is in readiness to commence the erection of the fifteen new houses on the addition of the South Side Land company. Architect Claude Nease has completed all preliminary arrangements, and next Monday morning, if the weather is favorable, the excavating will commence. These houses will prove to be one of the best improvements Chester ever had, excepting, of course, the mill and pottery now in course of erection. Although no work has been done on the houses yet, a number of Liverpool people have said they intend to rent some of the new houses as soon as they are completed and move their families to Chester.

Will Ballast the Road.

As soon as the weather opens the Street Railway company will commence to thoroughly overhaul the railway in Chester. This road was never ballasted, and at present is very uneven, and very rough to ride over. It would be folly for the company to place a good car on the road now, for within a few weeks it would be as bad as the car now on the road.

Repaired the Bridge.

Eph. Johnson yesterday afternoon made some needed repairs on the First street bridge. A portion of this bridge was raised to prevent the passing of trains under it but the work has never been completed. The bridge as it is at present is by no means in a safe condition, and the repairs started over a month ago should be completed.

Piling Up the Staves.

Hope Bros., who have a stave mill several miles back of Chester, have received a large order for staves from a Liverpool cask manufacturer. These staves are now being hauled to Chester and piled near the old oak tree. Next week they will be brought to Liverpool and delivered to the firm that ordered them.

Will Go to Colorado.

An auction sale was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Charles Moore, near Newell's Ferry, which was looked after by Justice Johnson. Moore and his family will move to Colorado about April, in which state he has purchased a large farm.

Working on the Roof.

Several men are now working at the new mill completing the roof on the galvanizing shop. It will require about two weeks to finish the job.

Among the Sick.

John McClure, who has been very ill with fever at his home on the Mrs. Huff farm, has recovered and is now able to be out.

To Move to Chester.

Herman Allison, who lives near Asbury Chapel, is arranging to move his family to Chester early in the spring.

Personal.

Prof. Bainbrick, of the Chester school, spent yesterday in Pittsburg on business.

Took Two Cases.

Infirmary Directors McBride and Hoopes were in the city yesterday and took charge of two cases that were referred to them by the township trustees. One of the parties is named Walsh and the other is the Stanley family.

Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued to M. J. Coulson, Dungannon, and Ella McQuilkin, Lisbon.

ALL THREE WILL RUN

McLane, Ashbaugh and McGeever to Have Election.

FOURTH WARDERS WILL VOTE

Again to See If They Can Settle on a Candidate For Council—The Election Will Be Held Saturday and None But Known Republicans Will Be Permitted to Vote.

The Fourth ward will have another election next Saturday between the hours of 12:30 and 6:30 to determine the tie between D. M. McLane and George W. Ashbaugh candidates for council from that ward.

The action was taken at the meeting of the central committee held last night and it was taken in deference to the wish of the candidates. All the parties who were on the ticket for council last Saturday can go on again, and the contestants will be D. M. McLane, George W. Ashbaugh and Michael McGeever. An effort will be made to get out the entire vote of the ward.

The committee then paid the bills of the recent primary and endorsed the ticket as selected at the primary held last Saturday.

The committee next adopted a resolution that any member of the central committee accepting money from any of the candidates for services rendered in furthering the cause of the candidate should be disqualified to serve as a member of the election board.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Kellar, the Magician,

who will be at the Grand next Saturday evening is acknowledged to be the finest magician upon the American stage today. He was seen here last year when he pleased a large and fashionable audience with his mystifying slight of hand performances. He has added a large number of new deceptions since his last appearance in the city.

Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown"

which comes to the Grand next Tuesday evening is at the Duquesne in Pittsburg this week and the Pittsburg papers cannot say too much for the show. East Liverpool people are to enjoy a rare treat in comedy when it appears here.

Patrons of the Grand

will have a chance to see one of Charles Frohman's best shows when "Because She Loved Him So" is presented here, and Manager Norris is to be congratulated upon securing such a fine production for his house.

WHAT IT COSTS.

Washing the Streets Is Not the Cheapest Thing In the World According to Estimate.

It is estimated that it will cost the city $14 to pump the water every night the streets are washed and when they are washed day and night it will cost double that amount, or $28. It is figured that this will be considerably cheaper than the old fashioned way of having men scrape the streets and another advantage is that the streets can be kept much cleaner.

"I've Got It."

Thus spake a well known citizen of East Liverpool this morning to the scribe. He was sneezing and coughing and holding his ribs, and to our query as to what he had "got," he chillingly and sarcastically replied: "The grip, you fool; can't you see what I've got, without asking fool questions?" And the poor fellow has lots of sympathizers in the city of East Liverpool just now.

A SAD CASE.

The Infirmary Directors Took Charge of a Case of Destitution.

There is an unusually sad case of destitution in a house on Seventh street The house in question is occupied by the family of A. J. Stanley and another family, making a total of 17 occupants of the one house. Of the 17 people 11 of them are sick. One young man has pneumonia, while the others have measles. The families were reported to the infirmary directors yesterday, and when they saw the state of affairs that existed they said it was one of the saddest cases they were called upon to look after.

EXPENSES ARE HEAVY.

Township Trustees Have More Sick People to Keep Than They Ever Had Before.

The township trustees have more cases of sickness on their hands than they have ever had at any one time, for that reason their bills were higher last month. They expended last month $99.79 of the township funds and $104.10 of the county funds. This does not equal the amount they spent in the same month last year, when $324.31 of the township funds and $38 50 of the county funds was expended keeping the city poor.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Two-Year-Old Son of Charles Powell, of Oblique Street.

CLOTHES CAUGHT ON A STOVE

Child Was Playing With Its Sister and Ran Against the Grate — Neighbor Extinguished the Flames With a Blanket, But Was Too Late to Save the Child.

While on her way to obtain a photograph of William R. Mountford for her son yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Powell, of 119 Oblique street, was recalled to her home to witness the death of James, her three-year-old son. The circumstances surrounding the death of the little fellow are extremely pathetic.

When Mrs. Powell went to get the photograph she left in the house with her little son, Margaret, the 11-year-old daughter. They were playing together as children do, when the boy started to play "catcher" with his sister. They were running about the kitchen and the dress of the boy became fastened in the grate of the stove and caught fire. He was soon enveloped in flames, and his screams attracted the attention of Johanna Conkle, living on the opposite side of the street. She ran over to the Powell home, and seeing the child's clothes on fire ran back to her home, secured a blanket from the second floor and went back to the child and smothered the flames by wrapping the blanket about it. Mr. Powell, boss kiln drawer at the Dresden pottery, was notified, as was also Mrs. Powell. They soon arrived at their home, only to find their son dying. A physician was summoned and after working some time succeeded in reducing the pain caused by the burns. Shortly after five o'clock, the boy commenced to ask about his brother and sister. They were about the bed at the time, but he could not see them, the flames having injured his sight. At five minutes of six death relieved his suffering.

THEY WERE ARRESTED.

The Principals In the Midway Alley Battle Are Brought to Justice.

Officer White yesterday afternoon arrested Peter Cannon and John Elliott for fighting last Tuesday evening in the Midway alley. The officer found both men unable to appear. Elliott came down to city hall this morning and paid a fine of $10.60. Cannon will appear in a few days.

SALEM CHINA WORKS.

Notes and Personals About the Pottery That Is of Interest Here.

The following news of the Salem pottery is from the Salem Herald:

The Salem China company has just received a large machine which will turn out pitchers, sugar bowls and odd shaped ware. These machines are not generally in use over the country. They displace labor to a small extent. This new machine will be put in operation next week. The employes do not greet its advent very cordially.

Work will be started on the new biscuit kiln at the pottery next week. When this is finished, it will give work to more employes and allow the pottery to get out work in better shape. Five kilns are now in operation at the plant.

The press and decorating departments are working until 9 o'clock each night.

Ernest Harper has resigned his position and has moved to East Liverpool.

Park Smith has quit in the clay department and returned to East Liverpool.

"Hob" Allison, of the packing room, has moved his family here from East Liverpool.

William Fitzgerald, of East Liverpool, has accepted a position in the jigger department.

It is said Joseph Andrews will go to East Liverpool next week and when he returns will not be alone. There is a woman in the case.

The Skill of a Mouse.

One day a naturalist lay motionless on a fallen log in the forest and silently watched an animal at play in the grass near by. This was a large brown backed mouse, a meadow mouse, that had come out from his home under the log and when tired of play had sat up to make his toilet. Using his forepaws as hands, the mouse combed the white fur on his breast and licked himself smooth and sleek. Satisfied at length with his appearance he began to search for food.

He did not have far to go, for a few stalks of wheat grew among the thick weeds near at hand. The mouse was so large that he could probably have bent the stalk down and brought the grain within reach. If not, he could certainly have climbed the stalk. He did not try either of these plans, however, for these were not his ways. Sitting up very straight, he bit through the stalk as high up as he could reach. The weeds were so thick that the straw could not fall its full length, and the freshly cut end settled down upon the ground, with the straw still erect and the grain out of reach. The mouse again bit the straw in two, and again the upper portion settled down. In this way he bit off five lengths of straw before he could bring the grain within reach of his paws. These forepaws were very skillful little hands, and he deftly husked a grain and ate it, sitting erect and holding it to his mouth as naturally as a boy would hold an apple.—Our Animal Friends.

A Cautious Recommendation.

A Devonshire clergyman was lately compelled to dismiss a clever gardener who used to purloin his fruit and vegetables. For the sake of his wife and family he gave him a character, and this is how he worded it: "I hereby certify that A. B. has been my gardener for over two years and that during that time he got more out of my garden than any man I ever employed."—Short Stories.

MRS. CLAY ASKS DIVORCE

Alleges Her Husband Eloped With Mrs. Skellan

AND GUILTY OF GROSS NEGLECT

Clays Were Married In England In 1879 and Have No Children—Missing Husband Left Her In May of Last Year.

LISBON, March 1.—[Special]—Elizabeth Clay, of East Liverpool, has applied for a divorce from William Clay on the grounds of infidelity and gross neglect of duty. The parties were married August 18, 1879, in England, and have no children. Plaintiff says that on May 14, 1899, the defendant eloped with Mrs. Nellie Skellan and has been living in a continuous state of infidelity ever since.

DEAL STILL ON.

New Cumberland People Are After Local Potters to Take the Chelsea.

The negotiations with George C. Murphy to operate the Chelsea pottery at New Cumberland are still pending, but there is no new development in the matter. The parties who have been trying to get the Chelsea started are now negotiating with other local potters and think they can get the plant started in a short time.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

Because It's For One Thing Only and East Liverpool Is Learning This.

Nothing can be good for everything
Doing one thing well brings success.
Doan's kidney pills do one thing only
They're for sick kidneys.
They cure a backache, every kidney ill.

Here is East Liverpool evidence to prove it.

Mr. C. McLean, of 187 Church alley who is employed in the East Liverpool Pottery company, says: "I had muscular rheumatism for three years in my back and kidneys. It caused much pain and suffering, the last years being the worst. I had a steady aching pain in my kidneys; extreme weakness in the muscles of the back; could not rest at night except lying flat on my back, and there was urinary weakness accompanying it. Although I had many bad attacks and used many different medicines I never obtained any relief. The worst attack I ever had, and which completely used me up, occurred just before I used Doan's kidney pills. Not having much faith left in medicines I was rather skeptical when I was recommended to try them, but got so bad that I had to get something, so I went for a box to the W. & W. pharmacy. They went direct to the kidneys and acted on the very fountain head of all the trouble, relieving me in a very short time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

DEWEY got out of Wheeling at the rate of 82 miles an hour. And that was too slow.

IT now appears that the Canadian invasion was to be made by Canuck troops into the Free State.

WITH the Irish cutting such a big figure on each side, the Transvaal looks like a Donnybrook fair.

THE city hall ought to be moved to Pennsylvania avenue. Council would then be able to transact nine-tenths of their talk on the spot.

THE Patriot speaks of the "disgraceful order" maintained in the Lisbon opera house. Something akin to the "graceful disorder" prevalent in the Democratic camp, possibly.

EDITOR NOLAN, of the Wellsville Record, is making a Buller-like effort to accomplish the seemingly impossible—publish a live paper in a dead town. But he certainly is galvanizing the corpse.

THE DOW TAX.

Senator Madden has introduced a bill in the state senate raising the Dow liquor tax from $250 to $500 a year. It is, of course, being vigorously opposed by the liquor element.

BOND BUYERS.

Representative McCormick, of Scioto, has introduced a bill in the legislature excepting county and municipal bonds from taxation after a specified date. Mr. McCormick's idea is to prevent the tendency to force bonds into the eastern market and knock out the advantage foreign buyers of bonds have over local bidders. No taxes are derived now anyhow.

NONE BUT REPUBLICANS.

This MUST be the rule in the Fourth ward on Saturday next, in the councilmanic contest between McLane, Ashbaugh and M'Geever, and the candidate who knowingly attempts to vote other than Republicans, should be read out of the party. It is an unanswerable truth that the primaries in East Liverpool have become a howling farce. Legislative action should establish the Australian system at the primaries and repeaters and perjurers be placed behind the bars.

FACE THE FOE.

Of course, we have reference to the infamous and accursed liquor traffic, the common foe of God and humanity, the antagonist of any and every good measure in existence. The liquor traffic is essentially evil and vile, and no GOOD thing can come from it. It has been and is now very largely in control in East Liverpool, and no sane or brainy man or woman will attempt to deny the fact. The GREAT majority of the citizens of East Liverpool are in favor of law and of order, and are the common foe of the liquor devil and his local agents. But this great majority of GOOD is controlled and ruled by the vicious MINORITY. Why? Simply because the evil and vicious liquor element is an ORGANIZED UNIT, the entirety thereof working as one man for the consummation of one central thought and purpose, while the good citizens, largely in the majority, are not organized or centralized, aiming at the common foe, and hence meet with defeat, and the evil element continues to control. God pity a city and citizens thus controlled.

There is another feature which we here desire to mention—the tendency of good men, through fear or on account of business ventures, to cater, to a marked degree, to the liquor league and its agents. Even church members, professed followers of the Nazarene, are afflicted with this disease. In the name of the all-powerful, all-wise, all-merciful and all-just God, Christian men and women of East Liverpool, put on the WHOLE ARMOR of God and face the common foe, bidding him open and uncompromising defiance. In Iowa, when the liquor league lately attempted to rule a great political party and give orders thereto, the answer was hurled in their teeth: "Go hide your ugly heads—the day of the rule of the whisky flask and the beer keg has ceased in this section." God grant that such may be the case in the grand old Buckeye state, and that the good tidings of great joy may be started in East Liverpool. As under present laws, the saloon is entitled to protection just so long as it obeys those LAWS. This is just and right. But the saloon and the saloon element WILL NOT OBEY THE LAWS. Therefore, God speed the day when the saloon shall cease to exist in this great Christian nation.

REGISTRATION.

LIVERPOOL VOTERS MAY HAVE TO REGISTER.

A Petition Sent to Archer Asking Him to Have the Legislature Pass the Necessary Bill.

Before the time for the presidential election arrives, it is probable the voters of East Liverpool will be compelled to register. The question has been agitated for some time and at last some action has been taken on it. Today a petition was sent to Senator F. B. Archer asking him to use his efforts to have the legislature pass a bill providing that voters in this city should be compelled to register, and it is expected that he will have no trouble in having the bill passed.

OUT AGAIN.

W. H. Streets' Arm Is Again Dislocated and He Will Probably Always Have a Stiff Joint.

Several days ago W. H. Streets had his arm dislocated in attempting to get on a moving street car. The arm was getting along very nicely and Mr. Streets failed to call on his physician. Yesterday it was discovered that he had thrown the arm out again and it would have to be reset. It is probable he will always suffer with a stiff joint as a result.

FEEAN TOOK A RIDE

And Came In Contact With a Telephone Pole.

HE SHIED A PIANO STOOL

Through a Window and Finished His Afternoon In the City Jail--He Put Up Security For His Appearance and Will Tell the Mayor About It Tonight.

James Feean yesterday drank not wisely but too well of the essence of corn juice and then started out to have a good time.

He commenced operations by hiring a horse and buggy from James Rayl for the purpose of taking a ride. He mounted the buggy seat like an old hand at the business and in a remarkably short time arrived at the conclusion that he was driving an old fashioned stage in the Rocky mountains. He passed street cars with the greatest of pomp and turned corners in first class style. Finally he came to a high cliff in the shape of a telephone pole on Jethro street and prepared to round it in good shape, but he came to grief. He made a short turn, and the buggy came in contact with the pole and Gentle Jeems was precipitated from his high seat to the hard, cold earth.

Luckily for Jeems, he was in close proximity to a saloon, so he filed into John Kountz's place to take a rest. He had been there but a short time, when he was filled with a spirit of unrest, and he decided he was the whole thing. Kountz didn't think so, and he and Jeems had trouble, and once more Jeems found himself out in the cold. This didn't suit him, and he determined to have music in some way, so he secured a piano stool, but didn't have anything to play on, so he shied the stool through a window to see if the sound it produced was good. The sound suited him all right, but it didn't suit Kountz, who thought it was anything but musical, and he called the patrol. Woods arrived in good order and Jeems was given a ride in the wagon, but he didn't do the driving this time, so he reached his destination in safety and put up security for his appearance this evening at 7:30.

ON THE RIVER.

Heavy Rains and Melting Snow Cause the River to Rise.

There is every prospect that if the present warm weather continues, the river will reach a 15 foot stage before many days, the heavy rain of the last 15 hours having caused a slight rise, and the snow is melting fast. The marks at the wharf this morning registered seven feet and rising. The ice has about run out and navigation has been resumed.

The Queen City, notwithstanding the ice, arrived from Cincinnati and departed on time. She is probably the best ice boat on this end of the river.

The Raymond Horner, laid up at Wellsville with a tow of coal, will resume her trip south as soon as it is possible for to do so.

Their Gas Was Short.

The Fort Pitt Gas company was shy of gas this morning owing to a break in their lines at Toronto. The Williams' well was turned into their mains until the break could be repaired.

Lost.

A $10 and a $2 bill on Fourth or Jackson, between Methodist Episcopal church and postoffice, last evening. Suitable reward if returned to T. B. Mackey, at postoffice.

Harry G. Folts and J. L. Francis Are Partners No More.

A card from Harry G. Folts, printed in a local paper, in which the writer notifies the public that the David and Jonathan affection formerly existing between the writer and James L. Francis, of Chicago, has been summarily dissolved, indicates that there has grown up a lack of fraternal feeling between these leading promoters of the Lisbon and East Liverpool railroad scheme. The assurance is given, however, that this will not militate in the least against the prospects for the road.—Buckeye State.

LADYSMITH RELIEVED.

News Officially Announced In London Today.

BULLER GETS THROUGH AT LAST

End of the Three Month's Advance to the Relief of the Besieged Town—Garrison In Good Spirits But Badly Ravaged by Disease and Wounds.

LONDON, March 1.--Special--It is officially announced this afternoon that Ladysmith has been relieved.

The war department has just made public a dispatch from Buller, dated at that place, stating that the relief column has at last raised the siege, after one last desperate rally by the besieging Boers, who have drawn off to the north, preparatory to defending the entrance into the Transvaal through the Drakenberg range.

The list of British losses has not yet been announced, but it is not believed to have been so large as was feared the price of Ladysmith's relief would be.

The news of the relief was discounted by the announcement in these dispatches yesterday stating that Buller hoped to enter the town last night or today. Press dispatches now arriving from the lately beleaguered city state that they found the defending garrison in dreadful plight, but overjoyed at their relief. The non-combatants suffered worst. The ravages of disease caused by bad water and the unhealthy situation in the cooped-up town were visible on all hands. The spirit of the garrison, however, is described as having been excellent, which is best borne out by the magnificent defense made. The earlier disasters which led to the siege of Ladysmith and the subsequent reverses of Buller's forces in attempting the relief are more than compensated in military glory by the stanch defense made by the force under Sir George White.

Following as closely upon French's relief of Kimberley and Roberts' victory over Cronje, which marked the turning point in the war, English enthusiasm over the successful advance on Ladysmith has not been so wildly demonstrative as might have been expected. The success of French and Roberts showed the English people that the situation was now well in hand and Ladysmith's relief, which a month ago would have been welcomed with frantic delight, was received with stoical confidence as if it were but an incident in the list of British victories expected from now on. Of course the lighter element indulged in the customary ebullition of noisy transport, but the great mass of the public take it as stated. The British march to Pretoria is now regarded as only a matter of time. The average Englishman may tell you that of course there'll be some fighting but really it will not amount to much. Bobs and Kicthener are there and are held to be invincible. The war party is in the saddle and the peace advocates have taken to the woods.

Ladysmith has been besieged since November 2. Buller took command October 2. The Boers invaded Natal October 12. The British, under General Penn Symons, advanced to meet them, and were repulsed October 20 at Glencoe, Symons being killed. Next day the Gloucestershire regiment, part of the Dublin Fusiliers and a battery were captured by the Boers. White's force then retired upon Ladysmith and were closed up by the Boers. Buller, advancing to their relief, was defeated at Colenso November 15, eighteen miles from Ladysmith. Later he crossed the Tugela three times, and was driven back each time. Two weeks ago he tried a new plan, and the diversion caused by Roberts' advance in the west drew off a large part of the enemy before Ladysmith, allowing Buller to proceed. The capture of Pieter's hill by the Inniskilling Fusiliers Tuesday opened up the way at last, and the relief column went through last night. It is likely Buller will now advance into the Transvaal by Laing's nek pass, or at at least make an attempt to do so, keeping the force under Joubert occupied while Roberts advances on Bloemfontein and thence by the west to Pretoria.

CRONJE UNDER ESCORT.

He and His Family Started From Roberts' Camp, In Charge of Major General Prettyman.

LONDON, March 1.—The war office received a dispatch from Lord Roberts, containing the following:

"PAARDEBERG, Feb. 28.—Cronje, with his family, left here yesterday in charge of Major General Prettyman and under the escort of the City Imperial volunteers and mounted infantry.

"Later in the day the remaining prisoners went in charge of the Earl of Erroll and escorted by the Gloucesters and 100 Imperial volunteers. The women and children are being sent to their homes. I understand that great dissatisfaction was felt by the Boers at Cronje's refusal to accept my offer of safe conduct to the women and children, and medical care for the wounded, 170 of whom are now in our hospital. Very many of them are in a terrible plight for want of care at an earlier stage.

"I inspected the Boers' laager yesterday and was much struck by the ingenuity and energy with which the position was made almost impregnable to assault."

INNISKILLING'S LOSS.

Suffered Severely In Their Attack on Railway Hill—Boers and British Fraternized.

LONDON, March 1.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Colenso, dated Monday, describing the famous advance of the Inniskillings on Friday, says:

"I saw the first company waver and then break before a sheet of well directed leaden hail, and within a minute

MAJOR RICHARD ALBRECHT.
A Foreign Officer, Who Was With Cronje, Captured by the British.

not a man was left standing. It seemed to me that the brave company of fusiliers was annihilated.

"Shortly afterward, however, I could see some of them move, then rise, and finally walk quietly to the rear, taking cover. The supporting company was also cut up, but not so severely.

"The Boers are placed on high, unassailable kopjes; and it would take ten times their number to carry these positions successfully. The kopjes command the railway from Colenso to Ladysmith, and a real right flank attack is rendered impossible, owing to a high and precipitous ravine which opens upon the Tugela, while the left is too open and void of cover and cannot be seriously considered as a means of assault.

"The Boers and British fraternized during yesterday's armistice. It is reported that 4,000 Boers have left the vicinity of Ladysmith for Dundee."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Pieters' station, dated Sunday, Feb. 25, and descrivtng the 12 days' continuous fighting, of which the attack upon Railway hill by the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers was one of the supreme movements, said in part: "The Inniskillings joined the column with 24 officers. They have five left. That tells the tale."

SORROW OF THE QUEEN.

She Cabled Deep Regret For Losses of the Irish Troops, With General Buller.

LONDON, March 1.—The queen telegraphed General Buller as follows: "I have heard with the deepest concern the heavy losses sustained by my brave Irish soldiers, and I desire to express my sympathy and admiration of the splendid fighting qualities they have exhibited throughout these trying operations."

In her dispatch to Lord Roberts following the announcement of the surrender of General Cronje, her majesty said:

"Accept for yourself and for all under your command, my warmest congratulations on this splendid news."

Lord Roberts replied as follows:

"All under my command are deeply grateful for your majesty's most gracious message. Congratulations from their queen are an honor the soldiers dearly prize."

General Buller wired his thanks to the queen for her telegram of "gracious sympathy and encouragement."

Third Avenue Offered Firm Resistance and Once Actually Rose—Other Features of the Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Additional mechanics' liens were piled up Wednesday upon the assets of the Third avenue, and a receiver was appointed; yet the stock offered firm resistance at Tuesday's low level, and rose at one time as much as 8½. The franchise tax commission, which recent rumors by professional bears have credited with a purpose to practically confiscate the net earnings of local corporations, began its sittings Wednesday, but the stocks of the New York public utilities rose from 2½ to 6 points. Public reports alleged continued demoralization and cutting of prices of Sugar, and the conviction of professional speculations remains unshaken that the next dividend will be cut; but Sugar shows a net gain of 3¼.

The simple explanation is that bear traders have been selling these stocks without holding certificates with which to make delivery, and when they tried to buy they found a horde of traders in the same situation, and a lively competition sprang up to secure the floating supply. People's Gas, the Tobacco stocks, a number of the metal stocks, Western Union and some others which have been under recent pressure moved upward under the same pressure. Relieved of the elements of acute weakness which have recently dragged it back, the railroad list rose strongly and quite uniformly, the exceptions being stocks which have already advanced in face of the recent weakness.

The movement in Grangers, led by Burlington, was based on the fall of snow in the northwest, which is believed to afford security to the wheat in the ground, as was reflected by the downward tendency of that cereal on the grain exchanges. This movement is of special interest, as being the first of any moment in the stock market founded on the prospects of this year's crop, thus ushering in a new influence and hazard, which will play a growing part in the problem of values. The closing was strong and active at about the best.

The bond market was not very active, but was firm. Total sales, par value, $1,595,000.

United States 5s, coupon, advanced ½, and do registered old 4s and 3s ¼, and new 4s declined ½ in the bid price.

AGAINST THE WOMEN.

Resolution Proposing Giving Them Right to Vote, Defeated In House, at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, March 1.—The house defeated a resolution proposing to amend the constitution by giving women the right to vote at all elections after Jan. 1, 1901, by 49 nays to 57 yeas. Eighty nine votes were required to adopt. The proposition received more votes than in any previous legislature.

The senate unanimously passed the Roberts bill, creating a state board for the examination of stationary engineers, and it is now a law.

Wants to See Home Again.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—William Crawford, of Junction City, Ky., was a passenger on the Pennsylvania southwestern express, on his way from Europe to his home. Mr. Crawford is 77 years old and is a veteran of the Mexican war. He was hurt on a government transport while serving under General Zachary Taylor, and while visiting his birthplace at Oldham, England, suffered a paralytic stroke, resulting from an injury he had received so many years before. He hoped to see his bluegrass home before his death.

If Finance Bill Becomes Law.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—It is authoritatively stated at the treasury department that in case the pending finance bill becomes a law the exchange of old bonds for the new 2 per cents will be made in the order in which they are actually received at the treasury, after the bill becomes a law.

Pennsy Gets Horseshoe Bend.

HARRISBURG, March 1.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company at last has undisputed possession of the famous horseshoe bend, above Altoona, and Altoona now owns the ground on which her waterworks are located. Grants were recently secured from the state.

NIGHT BLOOMING CEREUS.

There is a flower that blooms by night,
When all the land is still,
When only nightingales are heard
And dews their wine distill.
It loveth not the glare of day,
The noise of busy noon,
Alone revealing its pure heart
Unto the lady moon.

When other blossoms lie at rest,
It watches like a saint,
And all night long it wearies not
Until the shadows faint.
Let others call it what they may,
Hope's star it is to me,
That only when the morning comes
From its sweet task is free.

Let other flowers win the praise
Of laughter, mirth and song,
My blossom lights the thorny path
Of grief's unhappy throng,
And when I find it fast asleep,
While suns are shining bright,
I know 'twill waken when I dream
And guide me through the night.

THE CRASH OF HEAVY GUNS.

Fearful Strain of the Concussion Upon the Nerves and Ears.

The stunning report of each gun as it is fired is something that a stranger on the deck will long remember. There is an old saying, "deaf as a post." Now, in the royal navy, this is changed to "deaf as a post captain."

No man can go through a long series of gunnery practices without having his hearing very seriously affected. Some men put cotton wool in their ears, but even this precaution does little to deaden the terrible shock. And if the firing of one or two guns has such a shattering power, what would be the effect if the whole armament were in action together?

It is almost impossible to conceive the strain upon nerve and senses of the rending concussion. If a visitor watches the firing of one of the monster 9 inch guns and then places himself beside one of the smaller pieces, the report made by the one will not appear much louder than that of the other. The extra distance to the muzzle of the big piece discounts the sound. The only apparent difference between the two appears to be that the small pieces have a sharper, higher pitched note, and that the 6 and 9 inch guns speak with more of a bellowing roar.

One piece of advice may be given to any one who finds himself in the neighborhood of a gun in action. The noise will not have nearly the same effect if you are watching the gun as if the crash comes unexpectedly. Unconsciously nature prepares you to resist a shock which is known to be impending.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Popping the Question.

A writer in Lady's Realm says there are certain precautions which all lovers should take when proposing. Never propose, says an old student of woman, when returning from the theater. She will be still under the spell of one of the actors, and beside his romantic figure you dwindle into insignificance. It is better to propose on the way to the theater or some entertainment. Rather than upset an evening's enjoyment by rejecting your suit, she will accept you. Never, continues our mentor, propose to a young lady after having a meal with her. Her imagination is chilled by the process of digestion, while there is nothing that so degrades a man in a girl's eyes as to see him eat a hearty meal.

Was it not Charlotte Bronte who lost her admiration for Thackeray after seeing him eat? On the occasion of their first meeting at a dinner party Thackeray took Charlotte Bronte down to dinner. Thackeray was hungry, and as he ate steadily at his dinner her admiration and awe gradually faded away. At last, when she saw the great man of her visions attacking a huge potato, she called out in despair, "Oh, don't, Mr. Thackeray!"

A Happy Expedient.

Some few years back a colonel commanding some marines was much exercised in his mind as to how to deal with two of his men who were continually fighting. Threats, pack drill and even cells were tried, but were of no avail. No sooner were they free than they flew at one another and were at it again with worse results than before.

At last he hit on a happy expedient. The next time the men were brought before him he set them to clean all the windows in the barracks, one inside, the other out, and neither to go to the next window till the other had finished. The next morning they started, and after glaring at one another for three or four windows the situation became too ludicrous. They both burst out laughing and have been good friends ever since.—London Answers.

Traged, In an Alderman's Office.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—William Jackson, a butler for H. J. Heinz, shot and probably mortally wounded Annie Houston, colored, with whom he was in love, and then suicided, in Alderman Negley's office, on Collins avenue. He had made information against the woman and Rufus Brown, colored, who was present.

The Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Board of trade markets were quiet Wednesday. The heavy snowfall was a bearish influence in wheat, May closing ⅞@1c under Tuesday. May corn and May oats closed each a shade down. May pork closed 15c depressed. May lard 2½@5c lower and May ribs 5c down.

Condition of E. J. Phelps.

NEW HAVEN, March 1.—The condition of F. J. Phelps, ex-minister to England, while not critical is still as serious as it has been for some weeks.

Fire In Connellsville.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 1.—Fire broke out in the large frame Stillwagon building on the corner of Main and Pittsburg streets, and for a time it appeared as if the whole business center of the town would be swept away, the wind raging at a rate of 40 miles an hour. The whole Stillwagon building was gutted and drenched with water. The loss was about $15,000, covered by insurance.

FAMOUS LOST RIVER.

A PECULIAR STREAM WHICH SUDDENLY DISAPPEARS.

It Sinks Into the Earth Through an Unfathomable Hole and Bursts Forth Again From a Hill Miles Away and Then Repeats the Trick.

Famous Lost river manifests its strange disposition through the northern and eastern sections of Orange county, Ind. The river, parent of all smaller ones, gushes from a bluff in Washington county, a stream with strong current which carries everything before it. It runs in well defined banks for several miles and then suddenly disappears. Near Orleans it sinks into a great cavernous hole which might very readily be taken as the entrance to the lower regions and from which the river gained its secondary name, the river Styx. The sink is black and unfathomable and even in the driest season has never been explored, although it has been ascertained that the descent is gradual and about 590 feet.

Several miles from the first sink the stream comes forth from the side of a hill and, after running on the surface a mile or more, again sinks. By sawdust and wooden ball tests it has been ascertained that another stream which rushes from the side of a bluff eight miles distant in altogether another section of the country is a continuation of Lost river. This disappears in another sink, runs through an underground passage a mile or more in length and finally empties into White river.

It is claimed the subterranean streams do not follow a single channel, but that the entire section is honeycombed by a complex system of mains and leads.

Lost river was evidently a surface stream thousands of years ago. There is a well defined, deep rock bed leading from sink hole to sink, and in freshet season, when the volume of water becomes too great for the subterranean passageways to carry, the overflow follows the old river bed and joins the subterranean streams at the "rises." The old surface course is overgrown with trees and briers and some of these indicate that the surface course has not been used for at least centuries. Another evidence of its long habit of following underground sinks is shown by the mound builders' earthworks thrown up at various points where the river sinks away. Some of these mounds are the finest found north of the Ohio river.

Of the surface tributaries to Lost river the most remarkable is known as Stamper creek, which gushes forth from the sides of a bluff near Millersburg. It has a rampant little current which carries everything with it to a sink hole a mile distant. No one knows exactly where it comes out, but some claim it makes its appearance at Spring Mills, six miles south. Here Lick creek bursts out of the base of a hill, just in the rear of the mill. Farther down stream Lick creek sinks away from view, and then comes up and flows to New Prospect, where it empties into Lost river.

There are several other surface feeders which are quite as freakish. Near them are found caverns through which subterranean streams flow. They are filled with eyeless fishes and water animals. In some the streams have a swift current and are evidently part of the Lost river system. At certain points in the county the surface has caved in and shows Lost river running underground to the depth of 100 feet. How the water is again elevated to the surface is not known. The passageways are through white rock, worn smooth and white by the water.

Those who have made a study of the subterranean streams of Indiana and Kentucky have advanced the theory that away below the surface of Indiana—in at least the southern portion—there is a secondary great system of waterways and subterranean rivers. Some geologists of note have concurred in this theory. It is known that such streams do exist in the extreme southern section. Wyandotte and other caves owe their origin to these streams. Some years ago a subterranean stream was found running under Rush county, almost 70 miles northeast. The water can be heard roaring through the passageways and at times the course seems to be overtaxed. It evidently flows a great distance from the northeast and probably has its source in the St. Lawrence river system. At English a flood resulted in the discovery of another lost river. A new cavern was opened by the water in Crawford county.

The attractiveness of Lost river and its tributaries is enhanced greatly by the weird, wild scenery of Orange county. There is no section of the state where the scenery is more striking and diversified.

Near the mouth of the river are the famous West Baden and French Lick springs, which throw off a water brackish in taste and green cast in color, which has become noted over the entire world.—Indianapolis Press.

He Once Knew Something.

A middle aged gentleman who has been looking over his old school examination papers writes to The Academy expressing his chagrin at the discovery of the fact that he knows less than he did years ago. "I knew some things then—arithmetic, for example. Today I am at the mercy of any waiter who brings me change. At booking offices I keep vast crowds waiting and missing their trains while I do laborious subtraction sums in my head, but at school what a hand I was at figures! Look at this:

"'Three graziers, A, B and C, rent a piece of pasture land for a month. A puts on 27 cattle for 21 days, B 19 for 24 days and C 23 for 25 days. If at the end of the month the rent and other charges amount to £23 5s. 10d., how much of this ought to be paid by each?'

"I could do that in 1884. I couldn't do it now. I have no idea where to begin. It may be easy, but the point is that I have not the key. There used to be a jugglery with x, and I could manage it. Now that I pay income tax and have statements of account from my publisher every half year I can manage it no longer. And I seem to have known zoology too. Zoology! I seem to have been able to describe and draw diagrams of the heart and principal blood vessels of the crayfish. Once—good heavens—once I was a well informed boy. Today I don't see how I should pass the third class college of preceptors."—London Academy.

The Navy Man's Life.

"Laymen call our life exciting and think that we see a lot of the world," said the navy man, "but it's a big mistake. What do we know of any of the ports we visit? The pier, other boats that may happen to be there at the same time, and the English club of the town—that's all we see. And it's all we know about. After you've touched at a few ports and gone through the same performance over and over again, you get mighty tired of it.

"As for our life, what is it but a perpetual club life? There are a few professional club demands, but the rest of our time is spent in much the same way that a man spends his at his club—in smoking, reading, in swapping lies, in making oneself agreeable to one's friends who may do him the honor of a visit and in making oneself agreeable to some other fellow's friends who may do him the honor of a visit—that's the sum of our existence, and when you think that's it for day in and day out, you can but agree that a whole lifetime of it might begin to pall.

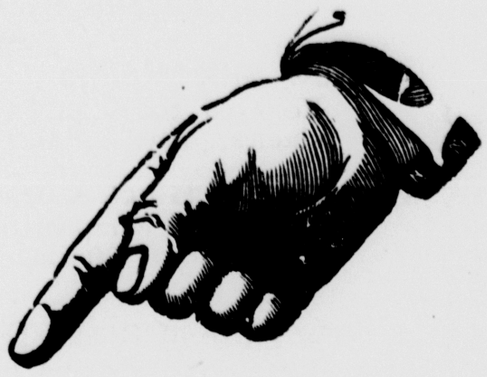

"It's like wearing evening clothes all the time or spending one's life at the opera, or always having dessert and nothing else for dinner. All play and no work makes a dull boy of almost any Jack. I sometimes wonder how any of us navy men manage to rise superior to our opportunities for sinking into stupidity's lowest depths."—New York Sun.

UNION LABELS

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

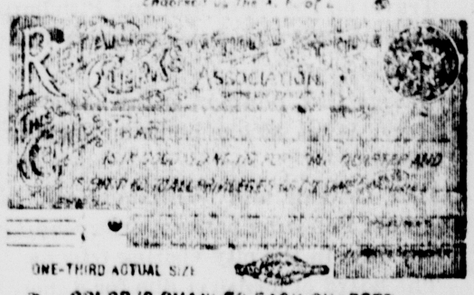

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns

15TH YEAR. NO 221. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, MARCH. 1, 1900. TWO CENTS

TARIFF FOR THE ISLAND.

Porto Ricon Measure Went Through the House.

PASSED BY A VOTE OF 161 TO 172.

Six Republicans Balloted Against Bill and Four Democrats For It—Six Men Brought From Beds of Sickness—Sibley's Clash With Democrats.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The battle royal over the Porto Ricon tariff bill ended in the house in victory for the Republicans. The bill, amended as agreed upon at the conference of Republicans on Monday night, so as to reduce the tariff from 25 to 15 per cent of the American tariff, and limiting its life to two years, was passed by a vote of 172 yeas to 161 nays. Six Republicans, Messrs. Crumbacher (Ind.), Fletcher (Minn.), Heatwole (Minn.), Littlefield (Me.), Lorimer (Ills.), and McCall (Mass.), voted with the opposition against the bill, and four Democrats, Messrs. Davey and Myer (La.), Devries (Cal.), and Sibley (Pa.), voted with the Republicans for the bill. In addition, Mr. Warner (Rep., Ills.) was paired against the bill with Mr. Boutelle (Rep., Me.), for it.

Two other Republicans, Mr. Lane (Ia.) and Faris (Ind.) were absent and unpaired. They were understood to be against the bill. Four Democrats who were opposed to the bill, Messrs. Fleming, (Ga.), Small (N. C.), Smith (Ky.) and Stallings (Ala. (were absent and unpaired. Other pairs were Gibson (Tenn.), Reeves (Ills.), Boutelle (Me.), Harmer (Pa.), Bailey (Kan.), Sheldon (Mich.), Wadsworth (N. Y.), all Republicans, for the bill, with Tate (Ga.), Parkman (Fla.), Fox (Miss.), Bellamy (N. C.), Cox (Tenn.) and Epes (Va.), Democrats, all against the bill. Herculean efforts had been made to get out the full vote and this led to some remarkable incidents.

Six men were brought from beds of sickness; two of them from hospitals. Mr. Brownlow, of Tennessee, was brought in a carriage accompanied by his wife and physician. He sat bundled up near the entrance until his vote was given, and then withdrew. It was felt that the strain would be severe on him, but when Mr. Tawney, the Republican whip, urged that the bill might be lost by this one vote, Mr. Brownlow said: "I would rather lose my life than see this bill defeated." Mr. Tawney and three assistants were out in carriages until midnight Tuesday night accounting for every vote, and Mr. Underwood, the Democratic whip, was similarly exerting every means to get out his vote. Three Democrats were brought from sick beds.

The first test was on a substitute offered by Mr. McCall, on behalf of the opposition. It was the original Payne bill for free trade with Porto Rico, and was defeated, 160 to 174. Only five Republicans voted for the substitute. Mr. Fletcher (Rep., Minn.), who subsequently voted to recommit and against the bill, voted against the substitute. A motion to recommit it, which followed, shared a similar fate, being lost, 160 to 172, There was great excitement throughout the roll calls, which were followed with eager interest by thousands of spectators, who packed the galleries to suffocation. The Republicans indulged in a demonstration of wild jubilation when the final result was announced.

During the debate Mr. Sibley (Pa.) announced his intention of voting for the bill. While we were debating the situation the people of Porto Rico were starving.

"The emergency," interrupted Mr. Williams (Ills.), "is not in Porto Rico, but in the politics of the Republican party." [Democratic applause.]

Mr. Sibley—You have located the politics on the wrong side. [Republican applause.]

Mr. Williams—It is pretty hard to locate you. [Laughter.]

Mr. Sibley replied that, as he had said before, his seat could be considered constructively on the Republican side. Continuing, he said that if it was established that every foot of territory owned by the United States was on absolute equality, then he was opposed to the whole policy of expansion. If the inhabitants of the Philippines could compete with American production and American labar, he was willing to give the archipelago to Aguinaldo.

Mr. Sibley concluded with a scathing characterization of his Democratic critics.

Porto Ricon Tests His Citizenship.

WASHINGTON,, March 1.—Suit was filed in the United States court of claims by Ludwig Duplace, of Porto Rico, to recover $6,534, which he has paid as customs duties on goods imported from the United States. He bases his right to recover on the claim that he is a citizen of the United States, under the treaty of peace with Spain and the constitution of the United States.

COMES TO VOTE TODAY.

Hawaiian Bill to Be Acted Upon In the Senate—McLaurin Spoke For Expansion.

WASHINGTON, March 1. — Notwithstanding the agreement made by the senate to vote on the Hawaiian government bill at Wednesday's session, the final vote on the measure was postponed until 4 o'clock today. Practically no progress was made on the bill Wednesday, although it was under consideration nearly four hours.

Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, at the opening of the session, made an explanation of the work of the conferees on the financial measure, his statement resulting in an expected and spirited debate.

One of the features of the session was the speech of Mr. McLaurin (Dem., S. C.) on the Philippine question.

He is the first Democrat in the senate to declare himself for expansion. He scouted what he termed the "bugbear of imperialism," with which some of his colleagues were trying to frighten the people, declared the question was not one of politics and maintained the acquisition of the Philippines would be of immense advantage to this country, especially the south, by opening to the United States the trade of the Orient.

IDAHO STRIKE INVESTIGATION.

A Publisher Told of Arrest and Confinement In "Bull Pen."

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The investigation of the course of the United States military forces in connection with the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, mining troubles was resumed by the house committee on military affairs. Wilbur H. Stewart, publisher of a paper at Mullan, Ida., a town near the scene of rioting, testified in part that he was arrested without a warrant at his office by State Auditor Bartlett Sinclair and an army officer. Mr. Sinclair stated to witness that he was accused of publishing seditious matter. A special train took him to Wallace and, after a night in jail, he was put in the "bull pen."

He said he was compelled by the negro soldiers to do revolting work. Mr. Stewart testified that when he got sick and refused to do the work on account of illness, the negro soldiers used obscene language and oaths against him, until the corporal of the guard made them desist.

TO APPEAL TO CONGRESS.

Kentucky Republicans Propose a Joint Convention of States to Secure an Election Law.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 1.—The Republican joint caucus of the legislature, after a long discussion concerning election laws in the south, and particularly the Goebel election law in this state, decided to take the initiative in a movement to bring the matter before congress.

The purpose is to call a convention, in which the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia are to take part, at which convention action is to be taken memorializing the congress to amend the national election laws so as to take out of the hands of the election machinery of the various state governments the details of at least congressional and presidential elections.

Couple Found Dead.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Morris Speidel and Myrtle Johnson were found dead at the house of Mrs. Cora Pforr, who rents out rooms, at 439 Third avenue. It is supposed they suicided. Speidel was employed at the Columbia hotel and the Johnson woman was an inmate of Margaret Le Roy's house at 525 Third avenue.

WOE IN LADYSMITH

Besieged Suffer From Bad Water and Heat.

LOW VITALITY AMONG SOLDIERS.

Would Probably Hold Their Own Against Attack, but Cannot Take Initiative. Others Suffer From Fever Dysentery and Diarrhœa.

LONDON, March 1.—General Buller's tidings come weighted with his long list of casualties. His losses in the four attempts to get General White out aggregate 4,000.

Ladysmith is in desperate straits. Charles Williams, the military expert, says he learns on very high authority—presumably that of Lord Wolesley—that "General White's force is almost at its last gasp."

"This is not so much," says Mr. Williams, "on account of any lack of provisions or of ammunition, neither of which is yet exhausted, as because of the poisonous waters of the Klip river and the evil effects of the heat on the Terrain, in which the garrison must reside. Even those who have escaped fever, dysentery and diarrhœa are in a state of low vitality. They can still man trenches, and would probably hold their own against a last desperate assault, but they can initiate nothing. General Buller now knows that, as units, the regiments will be of no use to him for months.

"The water of Klip river is not available for drinking, and to boil it is impossible, because of the scarcity of fuel. It is thick with putrid animal matter. Tea made of it has a suspended fiber, something like beef tea. It is caused by the sewage from the Boer camp."

Mr. Williams adds that when news like this passes under the thumb of the censor it more than offsets whatever jolly news may be heliographed from Ladysmith.

General Buller's distinct success in storming Pieter's hill brings the rescue of Ladysmith near, but the war office intimated late last evening that an immediate announcement of relief need not be expected. The goings to and fro at midnight of officials and messengers suggested that important news had been received. If this were the case, Lord Lansdowne obviously desired to sleep on it before taking the public into his confidence.

As his message reveals, General Buller's successful attack came after the hard fighting of Friday, and it was improvised and its execution begun during the armistice of Sunday. In proposing the armistice, the British commander stipulated that both sides should be free to move, but that neither should do any shooting. He was, therefore, within his privileges in immediately beginning to transfer his troops.

There is no authoritative indication yet of what Lord Roberts will do next. It seems likely that a branch railway will be built across the veldt, to lessen the difficultiee of transport. Colonel Girouard, who built the Soudan railway, is with Lord Roberts. The strain on the Western railway is seen from the fact that the population of Kimberley, two weeks after the relief, continues on reduced rations. Lord Roberts' troops, thus far, have been only partially fed.

It is quite clear to technical heads that those who talk of an immediate and rapid advance far into the Free State do not realize the transport conditions. The Boers, as it now appears, have built a railway from Harrismith to Kroomstadt to facilitate the movement of their troops between Natal and the Free State.

Mafeking was holding out on Feb. 6. At that time the Boers were showing unusual activity and firing inflammable shells.

The Boers who hold positions south of the Orange river have been weakened.

Lieutenant Barentzen, writing on behalf of himself and of other Scandivavian prisoners, affirms that there are no mercenaries in the Boer army and no volunteers who receive a penny for their services.

PIETERS' HILL CAPTURED.

Buller Reported a Gallant and Successful Attack by British Soldiers.

LONDON, March 1.—The war office received the following dispatch from General Buller:

"HEADQUARTERS, Alandwani, Feb. 28.—Finding that the passage of Langewachts spruit was commanded by strong intrenchments, I reconnoitered from another passage of the Tugela. One was found for me below the cataract by Colonel Sandbach, Royal Engineers, on Feb. 25. We commenced making an approach thereto, and on Feb. 26, finding that I could make the passage practicable, I crossed the guns and baggage back to the south side of the Tugela, took up the pontoon bridge on Monday night and relayed it at the new site, which is just below the point marked cataract. During all this time the troops had been scattered, crouching under hastily constructed small stone shelters and exposed to a galling shell and rifle fire, and throughout they maintained the most excellent spirits.

"Tuesday General Barton, with two battalions of the Sixth brigade and the Dublin Fusiliers, crept about a mile and a half down the banks of the river, and ascended an almost perpendicular cliff of about 500 feet, assaulted and carried the top of Pieter's hill. This hill, to a certain extent, turned the enemy's left and the Fourth brigade, under Colonel Norcott, and the Eleventh brigade, Colonel Kitchener commanding, the whole under command of General Warren, assaulted the enemy's position which was magnificently carried by the South Lancashire regiment about sunset. We took about 60 prisoners and scattered the enemy in all directions. There seems to be still a considerable body of them left on and under Bulwana mountain.

"Our losses, I hope, are not large. They certainly are much less than they would have been were it not for the admirable manner in which the artillery was served, especially the guns manned by the Royal naval force and the Natal naval volunteers.

ADVISED HILL TO OPEN LETER

Congressman Campbell Testified In the Clark Senatorial Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Congressman Campbell, chief counsel for the prosecution in the Clark case, was on the stand during the greater part of the day before the senate committee on elections. He said that while he had attended the preliminary conference of friends of Mr. Clark, which resulted in the anti-Daly campaign, he had not heard much of the talk, having gone to sleep. He had given the Clark people no formal notice when he decided to discontinue his allegiance to Mr. Clark, and he did not become unfriendly to Mr. Clark until he became dissatisfied with his campaign methods.

He emphatically denied Ben Hill's statement that he (Campbell) had opened the Bickford letter bearing upon the prosecution of Mr. Whiteside, but confessed that he had advised Hill to open it, saying that he felt it to be so important to Whiteside to protect him from an unjust prosecution that he would have advised this course even if he had been familiar with the penal statutes, which he was not.

Lieutenant Waugh Killed Himself.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—General Otis reported to the war department that Second Lieutenant John R. Waugh, Thirty-ninth volunteer infantry, shot himself through the heart while temporarily deranged from extreme nervousness, on the 27th inst., at Manila. Lieutenant Waugh was born in Nebraska in 1876.

Killed In the Philippines.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 1.—A letter received from Bandmaster Mestrezaat, of the Thirteenth regiment, states that Joe Burns, of the band, of Pittsburg, was killed in the Philippines. Butler Clark, another Pittsburger, has been discharged and will be sent home on account of sunstroke, from which he may never recover. Eight men killed and many wounded are the result of the campaign in the south during January, the letter says.

Given More Time.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—An order was made in common pleas court No. 1 yesterday on the representations of Attorneys Clarence Burleigh and Willis T. McCook, giving all the defendants except three in the Frick-Carnegie case 15 more days to answer.

Triple Tragedy In West Virginia.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., March 1.—Joseph Glean, a farmer living near here, killed his daughter and her lover and then cut his own throat. Glean had forbidden Albert Marsh to call upon his daughter.

FOUR FIRES TO FIGHT

Blazes In New York, Apparently Incendiary.

LIVES OF THREE CHILDREN LOST.

Firemen and Policemen Made a Number of Thrilling Rescues—An Apartment House and Tenement Gutted—Other Fires Easily Extinguished.

NEW YORK, March 1.—A fierce fire broke out in a tenement at 1691 Third avenue. The police and firemen made many thrilling rescues, and after the fury of the flames had been spent the bodies of three children were found in the ruins. They are thought to be the children of Edward Friedman, who lived on the top floor of the building.

A dozen or more people were rescued in a semi-conscious or unconscious condition. Policeman Thomas Tracy did valorous services, entering the burning building repeatedly and finally dropping on the third floor overcome by smoke. His comrades carried him out unconscious and he was sent to the Presbyterian hospital. He will recover.

Another policeman carried out a 5-five-year old boy who was found almost dead on the third floor.

The fire broke out in the basement of the building and the entire structure was destroyed. The financial loss is about $25,000.

While the firemen were fighting this fire, another broke out on Third avenue, just five blocks away, under almost similar circumstances. The fire was quickly extinguished. At the same time there was a fire burning at 1828 Second avenue, very close at hand, where a four-story flat house was entirely gutted. Here, also, the police and firemen made a number of rescues.

A few minutes later, about midway between the two fires on Third avenue, a fourth fire broke out at 1755, in the bottom of an air shaft.

This was also easily extinguished.

The police and Chief Crocker of the fire department are strongly of the opinion that the fires were prearranged and the work of incendiary origin.

MRS. SCHMIDTLAPP DEAD.

She and an Unknown Woman Victims of Missouri Pacific Wreck.

KANSAS CITY, March 1.—Two are dead, one is dying and six others are more or less seriously injured as a result of the tail end collision on the Missouri Pacific railroad, near Independence, Mo.

The Dead.

Mrs. J. G. Schmidtlapp, of Cincinnati, wife of millionaire J. G. Schmidtlapp.

Unknown woman, cremated, believed to be from St. Louis.

Injured.

Miss Emma Schmidtlapp, of Cincinnati, cannot live.

W. R. Vaughan, a Cincinnati newspaper man, arm broken in two places.

Mrs. J. Balke, mother of Mrs. Schmidtlapp, arm broken, badly burned about face.

J. G. Schmidtlapp, husband of Mrs. Schmidtlapp, arm broken and head bruised.

L. F. Sheldon, Sedalia, badly bruised and cut.

William Ryan, baggagemaster, slightly injured.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Flagman Laid Down and Engine Ran Partly Over Him.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Jacob M. Adams, a West Penn flagman, slipped on the icy track before a slowly running engine. After trying to crawl from in front of the train, he laid down flat, the engine passing partly over him. The ashbox was just squeezing him when the engine was stopped.

In an interview, he expressed a conviction that the Lord had spared his life.

Killed by a Fall.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Peter Engel, a slate roofer, was killed in Bellevue by falling from the roof of a new house on Jackson street, where he was at work. His neck was broken and he sustained a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

WILL LAST FIVE YEARS.

CHARLES GOODBALLET ON PHILIPPINE WAR.

Sick People In East End—Postoffice receipts Make Good Showing.

Conrad Goodballet, of Helana, yesterday received a letter from his brother, Charles Goodballet, a member of Co. H, Seventh infantry, now in the Philippines. The letter was written at Angeles. Goodballet states that in his opinion it will be at least five years before the United States troops conquer the Filipinos, as they are continually appearing in all parts of the islands in squads, and after firing a few shots, retreat, without doing any harm to the United States soldiers.

Goodballet says he is enjoying good health but is getting homesick. He does not expect to get back to Liverpool for several years. Goodballet is well known in East End, having resided there before his enlistment.

Among the Sick.

Doctor Calhoun is able to be out after a few weeks' illness.

Contractor John Schmelzenbach was walking the East End streets yesterday afternoon for the first time since he became ill, which was six weeks ago.

William House, of St. George street, is very.

Harvey Haslett, of Dry Run, is very ill with grip.

Trimming Stone.

Contractor John Schmelzenbach, who has the contract for the stone work for the East End school, has a number of stone masons at work trimming stones for the steps and sills. The contractor stated yesterday afternoon that the balance of his contract would be completed within the next month if the weather was favorable.

Postoffice Receipts.

The receipts for the East End postoffice for the month of February, which closed last evening, showed a decrease over the business transacted during the previous month. The receipts were, stamps sold $99.66, money order business $540.39. It being a short month the receipts were considered very large.

Real Estate Deals Pending.

A real estate dealer stated yesterday afternoon that a number of deals for real estate in that part of the city were pending, and that at least one large lot on Pennsylvania avenue would change hands within the next 10 days.

Had a Good Time.

The social given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sue Smith on St. George street was well attended, and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Birth.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. William Jewell, of Helana, a son.

Attorney General's Decision Regarding Boards of Health.

Attorney General Sheets has rendered two opinions in answer to queries from Secretary Probst, of the state board of health. In one of them he holds that county, township, village and city boards of health have no authority in law for charging fees for the issuing of burial permits or for any other function with which they may be charged. He has also given the opinion that members of a sanitary police force have the same power as ordinary policemen in making arrests without warrants.

WILL START EXCAVATING

NEXT MONDAY FOR THE NEW HOUSES.

Charles Moore Going to Colorado News of Chester People and About Grant District.

Everything is in readiness to commence the erection of the fifteen new houses on the addition of the South Side Land company. Architect Claude Nease has completed all preliminary arrangements, and next Monday morning, if the weather is favorable, the excavating will commence. These houses will prove to be one of the best improvements Chester ever had, excepting, of course, the mill and pottery now in course of erection. Although no work has been done on the houses yet, a number of Liverpool people have said they intend to rent some of the new houses as soon as they are completed and move their families to Chester.

Will Ballast the Road.

As soon as the weather opens the Street Railway company will commence to thoroughly overhaul the railway in Chester. This road was never ballasted, and at present is very uneven, and very rough to ride over. It would be folly for the company to place a good car on the road now, for within a few weeks it would be as bad as the car now on the road.

Repaired the Bridge.

Eph. Johnson yesterday afternoon made some needed repairs on the First street bridge. A portion of this bridge was raised to prevent the passing of trains under it but the work has never been completed. The bridge as it is at present is by no means in a safe condition, and the repairs started over a month ago should be completed.

Piling Up the Staves.

Hope Bros., who have a stave mill several miles back of Chester, have received a large order for staves from a Liverpool cask manufacturer. These staves are now being hauled to Chester and piled near the old oak tree. Next week they will be brought to Liverpool and delivered to the firm that ordered them.

Will Go to Colorado.

An auction sale was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Charles Moore, near Newell's Ferry, which was looked after by Justice Johnson. Moore and his family will move to Colorado about April, in which state he has purchased a large farm.

Working on the Roof.

Several men are now working at the new mill completing the roof on the galvanizing shop. It will require about two weeks to finish the job.

Among the Sick.

John McClure, who has been very ill with fever at his home on the Mrs. Huff farm, has recovered and is now able to be out.

To Move to Chester.

Herman Allison, who lives near Asbury Chapel, is arranging to move his family to Chester early in the spring.

Personal.

Prof. Bainbrick, of the Chester school, spent yesterday in Pittsburg on business.

Took Two Cases.

Infirmary Directors McBride and Hoopes were in the city yesterday and took charge of two cases that were referred to them by the township trustees. One of the parties is named Walsh and the other is the Stanley family.

Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued to M. J. Coulson, Dungannon, and Ella McQuilkin, Lisbon.

ALL THREE WILL RUN

McLane, Ashbaugh and McGeever to Have Election.

FOURTH WARDERS WILL VOTE

Again to see If They Can Settle on a Candidate For Council—The Election Will Be Held Saturday and None But Known Republicans Will Be Permitted to Vote.

The Fourth ward will have another election next Saturday between the hours of 12:30 and 6:30 to determine the tie between D. M. McLane and George W. Ashbaugh candidates for council from that ward.

The action was taken at the meeting of the central committee held last night and it was taken in deference to the wish of the candidates. All the parties who were on the ticket for council last Saturday can go on again, and the contestants will be D. M. McLane, George W. Ashbaugh and Michael McGeever. An effort will be made to get out the entire vote of the ward.

The committee then paid the bills of the recent primary and endorsed the ticket as selected at the primary held last Saturday.

The committee next adopted a resolution that any member of the central committee accepting money from any of the candidates for services rendered in furthering the cause of the candidate should be disqualified to serve as a member of the election board.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Kellar, the Magician,

who will be at the Grand next Saturday evening is acknowledged to be the finest magician upon the American stage today. He was seen here last year when he pleased a large and fashionable audience with his mystifying slight of hand performances. He has added a large number of new deceptions since his last appearance in the city.

Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown"

which comes to the Grand next Tuesday evening is at the Duquesne in Pittsburg this week and the Pittsburg papers cannot say too much for the show. East Liverpool people are to enjoy a rare treat in comedy when it appears here.

Patrons of the Grand

will have a chance to see one of Charles Frohman's best shows when "Because She Loved Him So" is presented here, and Manager Norris is to be congratulated upon securing such a fine production for his house.

WHAT IT COSTS.

Washing the Streets Is Not the Cheapest Thing In the World According to Estimate.

It is estimated that it will cost the city $14 to pump the water every night the streets are washed and when they are washed day and night it will cost double that amount, or $28. It is figured that this will be considerably cheaper than the old fashioned way of having men scrape the streets and another advantage is that the streets can be kept much cleaner.

"I've Got It."

Thus spake a well known citizen of East Liverpool this morning to the scribe. He was sneezing and coughing and holding his ribs, and to our query as to what he had "got," he chillingly and sarcastically replied: "The grip, you fool; can't you see what I've got, without asking fool questions?" And the poor fellow has lots of sympathisers in the city of East Liverpool just now.

A SAD CASE.

The Infirmary Directors Took Charge of a Case of Destitution.

There is an unusually sad case of destitution in a house on Seventh street. The house in question is occupied by the family of A. J. Stanley and another family, making a total of 17 occupants of the one house. Of the 17 people 11 of them are sick. One young man has pneumonia, while the others have measles. The families were reported to the infirmary directors yesterday, and when they saw the state of affairs that existed they said it was one of the saddest cases they were called upon to look after.

EXPENSES ARE HEAVY.

Township Trustees Have More Sick People to Keep Than They Ever Had Before.

The township trustees have more cases of sickness on their hands than they have ever had at any one time, and for that reason their bills were higher last month. They expended last month $99.79 of the township funds and $104.10 of the county funds. This does not equal the amount they spent in the same month last year, when $324.31 of the township funds and $38 50 of the county funds was expended keeping the city poor.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Two-Year-Old Son of Charles Powell, of Oblique Street.

CLOTHES CAUGHT ON A STOVE

Child Was Playing With Its Sister and Ran Against the Grate — Neighbor Extinguished the Flames With a Blanket, But Was Too Late to Save the Child.

While on her way to obtain a photograph of William R. Mountford for her son yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Powell, of 119 Oblique street, was recalled to her home to witness the death of James, her three-year-old son. The circumstances surrounding the death of the little fellow are extremely pathetic.

When Mrs. Powell went to get the photograph she left in the house with her little son, Margaret, the 11-year-old daughter. They were playing together as children do, when the boy started to play "catcher" with his sister. They were running about the kitchen and the dress of the boy became fastened in the grate of the stove and caught fire. He was soon enveloped in flames, and his screams attracted the attention of Johanna Conkle, living on the opposite side of the street. She ran over to the Powell home, and seeing the child's clothes on fire ran back to her home, secured a blanket from the second floor and went back to the child and smothered the flames by wrapping the blanket about it. Mr. Powell, boss kiln drawer at the Dresden pottery, was notified, as was also Mrs. Powell. They soon arrived at their home, only to find their son dying. A physician was summoned and after working some time succeeded in reducing the pain caused by the burns. Shortly after five o'clock, the boy commenced to ask about his brother and sister. They were about the bed at the time, but he could not see them, the flames having injured his sight. At five minutes of six death relieved his suffering.

THEY WERE ARRESTED.

The Principals In the Midway Alley Battle Are Brought to Justice.

SALEM CHINA WORKS.

Notes and Personals About the Pottery That Is of Interest Here.

The following news of the Salem pottery is from the Salem Herald:

The Salem China company has just received a large machine which will turn out pitchers, sugar bowls and odd shaped ware. These machines are not generally in use over the country. They displace labor to a small extent. This new machine will be put in operation next week. The employes do not greet its advent very cordially.

Work will be started on the new biscuit kiln at the pottery next week. When this is finished, it will give work to more employes and allow the pottery to get out work in better shape. Five kilns are now in operation at the plant.

The press and decorating departments are working until 9 o'clock each night.

Ernest Harper has resigned his position and has moved to East Liverpool.

Park Smith has quit in the clay department and returned to East Liverpool.

"Hob" Allison, of the packing room, has moved his family here from East Liverpool.

William Fitzgerald, of East Liverpool, has accepted a position in the jigger department.

It is said Joseph Andrews will go to East Liverpool next week and when he returns will not be alone. There is a woman in the case.

The Skill of a Mouse.

One day a naturalist lay motionless on a fallen log in the forest and silently watched an animal at play in the grass near by. This was a large brown backed mouse, a meadow mouse, that had come out from his home under the log and when tired of play had sat up to make his toilet. Using his forepaws as hands, the mouse combed the white fur on his breast and licked himself smooth and sleek. Satisfied at length with his appearance he began to search for food.

He did not have far to go, for a few stalks of wheat grew among the thick weeds near at hand. The mouse was so large that he could probably have bent the stalk down and brought the grain within reach. If not, he could certainly have climbed the stalk. He did not try either of these plans, however, for these were not his ways. Sitting up very straight, he bit through the stalk as high up as he could reach. The weeds were so thick that the straw could not fall its full length, and the freshly cut end settled down upon the ground, with the straw still erect and the grain out of reach. The mouse again bit the straw in two, and again the upper portion settled down. In this way he bit off five lengths of straw before he could bring the grain within reach of his paws. These fore paws were very skillful little hands, and he deftly husked a grain and ate it, sitting erect and holding it to his mouth as naturally as a boy would hold an apple.—Our Animal Friends.

A Cautious Recommendation.

A Devonshire clergyman was lately compelled to dismiss a clever gardener who used to purloin his fruit and vegetables. For the sake of his wife and family he gave him a character, and this is how he worded it: "I hereby certify that A. B. has been my gardener for over two years and that during that time he got more out of my garden than any man I ever employed."—Short Stories.

MRS. CLAY ASKS DIVORCE

Alleges Her Husband Eloped With Mrs. Skellan

AND GUILTY OF GROSS NEGLECT

Clays Were Married In England In 1879 and Have No Children—Missing Husband Left Her In May of Last Year.

LISBON, March 1—[Special]—Elizabeth Clay, of East Liverpool, has applied for a divorce from William Clay on the grounds of infidelity and gross neglect of duty. The parties were married August 18, 1879, in England, and have no children. Plaintiff says that on May 14, 1899, the defendant eloped with Mrs. Nellie Skellan and has been living in a continuous state of infidelity ever since.

DEAL STILL ON.

New Cumberland People Are After Local Potters to Take the Chelsea.

The negotiations with George C. Murphy to operate the Chelsea pottery at New Cumberland are still pending, but there is no new development in the matter. The parties who have been trying to get the Chelsea started are now negotiating with other local potters and think they can get the plant started in a short time.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

Because It's For One Thing Only and East Liverpool Is Learning This.

Nothing can be good for everything
Doing one thing well brings success.
Doan's kidney pills do one thing only
They're for sick kidneys.

They cure a backache, every kidney ill.

Here is East Liverpool evidence to prove it.

Mr. C. McLean, of 187 Church alley who is employed in the East Liverpool Pottery company, says: "I had muscular rheumatism for three years in my back and kidneys. It caused much pain and suffering, the last years being the worst. I had a steady aching pain in my kidneys; extreme weakness in the muscles of the back; could not rest at night except lying flat on my back, and there was urinary weakness accompanying it. Although I had many bad attacks and used many different medicines I never obtained any relief. The worst attack I ever had, and which completely used me up, occurred just before I used Doan's kidney pills. Not having much faith left in medicines I was rather skeptical when I was recommended to try them, but got so bad that I had to get something, so I went for a box to the W. & W. pharmacy. They went direct to the kidneys and acted on the very fountain head of all the trouble, relieving me in a very short time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

NONE BUT REPUBLICANS.

This MUST be the rule in the Fourth ward on Saturday next, in the councilmanic contest between McLane, Ashbaugh and M'Geever, and the candidate who knowingly attempts to vote other than Republicans, should be read out of the party. It is an unanswerable truth that the primaries in East Liverpool have become a howling farce. Legislative action should establish the Australian system at the primaries and repeaters and perjurers be placed behind the bars.

FACE THE FOE.

Of course, we have reference to the infamous and accursed liquor traffic, the common foe of God and humanity, the antagonist of any and every good measure in existence. The liquor traffic is essentially evil and vile, and no GOOD thing can come from it. It has been and is now very largely in control in East Liverpool, and no sane or brainy man or woman will attempt to deny the fact. The GREAT majority of the citizens of East Liverpool are in favor of law and of order, and are the common foe of the liquor devil and his local agents. But this great majority of GOOD is controlled and ruled by the vicious MINORITY. Why? Simply because the evil and vicious liquor element is an ORGANIZED UNIT, the entirety thereof working as one man for the consummation of one central thought and purpose, while the good citizens, largely in the majority, are not organized or centralized, aiming at the common foe, and hence meet with defeat, and the evil element continues to control. God pity a city and citizens thus controlled.

There is another feature which we here desire to mention—the tendency of good men, through fear or on account of business ventures, to cater, to a marked degree, to the liquor league and its agents. Even church members, professed followers of the Nazarene, are afflicted with this disease. In the name of the all-powerful, all-wise, all-merciful and all-just God, Christian men and women of East Liverpool, put on the WHOLE ARMOR of God and face the common foe, bidding him open and uncompromising defiance. In Iowa, when the liquor league lately attempted to rule a great political party and give orders thereto, the answer was hurled in their teeth: "Go hide your ugly heads—the day of the rule of the whisky flask and the beer keg has ceased in this section." God grant that such may be the case in the grand old Buckeye state, and that the good tidings of great joy may be started in East Liverpool. As under present laws, the saloon is entitled to protection just so long as it obeys those LAWS. This is just and right. But the saloon and the saloon element WILL NOT OBEY THE LAWS. Therefore, God speed the day when the saloon shall cease to exist in this great Christian nation.

REGISTRATION.

LIVERPOOL VOTERS MAY HAVE TO REGISTER.

A Petition Sent to Archer Asking Him to Have the Legislature Pass the Necessary Bill.

Before the time for the presidential election arrives, it is probable the voters of East Liverpool will be compelled to register. The question has been agitated for some time and at last some action has been taken on it. Today a petition was sent to Senator F. B. Archer asking him to use his efforts to have the legislature pass a bill providing that voters in this city should be compelled to register, and it is expected that he will have no trouble in having the bill passed.

OUT AGAIN.

W. H. Streets' Arm Is Again Dislocated and He Will Probably Always Have a Stiff Joint.

Several days ago W. H. Streets had his arm dislocated in attempting to get on a moving street car. The arm was getting along very nicely and Mr. Streets failed to call on his physician. Yesterday it was discovered that he had thrown the arm out again and it would have to be reset. It is probable he will always suffer with a stiff joint as a result.

FEEAN TOOK A RIDE

And Came In Contact With a Telephone Pole.

HE SHIED A PIANO STOOL

Through a Window and Finished His Afternoon In the City Jail--He Put Up Security For His Appearance and Will Tell the Mayor About It Tonight.

James Feean yesterday drank not wisely but too well of the essence of corn juice and then started out to have a good time.

He commenced operations by hiring a horse and buggy from James Rayl for the purpose of taking a ride. He mounted the buggy seat like an old hand at the business and in a remarkably short time arrived at the conclusion that he was driving an old fashioned stage in the Rocky mountains. He passed street cars with the greatest of pomp and turned corners in first class style. Finally he came to a high cliff in the shape of a telephone pole on Jethro street and prepared to round it in good shape, but he came to grief. He made a short turn, and the buggy came in contact with the pole and Gentle Jeems was precipitated from his high seat to the hard, cold earth.

Luckily for Jeems, he was in close proximity to a saloon, so he filed into John Kountz's place to take a rest. He had been there but a short time, when he was filled with a spirit of unrest, and he decided he was the whole thing. Kountz didn't think so, and he and Jeems had trouble, and once more Jeems found himself out in the cold. This didn't suit him, and he determined to have music in some way, so he secured a piano stool, but didn't have anything to play on, so he shied the stool through a window to see if the sound it produced was good. The sound suited him all right, but it didn't suit Kountz, who thought it was anything but musical, and he called the patrol. Woods arrived in good order and Jeems was given a ride in the wagon, but he didn't do the driving this time, so he reached his destination in safety and put up security for his appearance this evening at 7:30.

ON THE RIVER.

Heavy Rains and Melting Snow Cause the River to Rise.

There is every prospect that if the present warm weather continues, the river will reach a 15 foot stage before many days, the heavy rain of the last 15 hours having caused a slight rise, and the snow is melting fast. The marks at the wharf this morning registered seven feet and rising. The ice has about run out and navigation has been resumed.

The Queen City, notwithstanding the ice, arrived from Cincinnati and departed on time. She is probably the best ice boat on this end of the river.

The Raymond Horner, laid up at Wellsville with a tow of coal, will resume her trip south as soon as it is possible for to do so.

Their Gas Was Short.

The Fort Pitt Gas company was shy of gas this morning owing to a break in their lines at Toronto. The Williams' well was turned into their mains until the break could be repaired.

Lost.

A $10 and a $2 bill on Fourth or Jackson, between Methodist Episcopal church and postoffice, last evening. Suitable reward if returned to T. B. Mackey, at postoffice.

DISSOLVED.

Harry G. Folts and J. L. Francis Are Partners No More.

A card from Harry G. Folts, printed in a local paper, in which the writer notifies the public that the David and Jonathan affection formerly existing between the writer and James L. Francis, of Chicago, has been summarily dissolved, indicates that there has grown up a lack of fraternal feeling between these leading promoters of the Lisbon and East Liverpool railroad scheme. The assurance is given, however, that this will not militate in the least against the prospects for the road.—Buckeye State.

LADYSMITH RELIEVED.

News Officially Announced In London Today.

BULLER GETS THROUGH AT LAST

End of the Three Month's Advance to the Relief of the Besieged Town—Garrison In Good Spirits But Badly Ravaged by Disease and Wounds.

LONDON, March 1.--Special--It is officially announced this afternoon that Ladysmith has been relieved.

The war department has just made public a dispatch from Buller, dated at that place, stating that the relief column has at last raised the siege, after one last desperate rally by the besieging Boers, who have drawn off to the north, preparatory to defending the entrance into the Transvaal through the Drakenberg range.

The list of British losses has not yet been announced, but it is not believed to have been so large as was feared the price of Ladysmith's relief would be.

The news of the relief was discounted by the announcement in these dispatches yesterday stating that Buller hoped to enter the town last night or today. Press dispatches now arriving from the lately beleaguered city state that they found the defending garrison in dreadful plight, but overjoyed at their relief. The non-combatants suffered worst. The ravages of disease caused by bad water and the unhealthy situation in the cooped-up town were visible on all hands. The spirit of the garrison, however, is described as having been excellent, which is best borne out by the magnificent defense made. The earlier disasters which led to the siege of Ladysmith and the subsequent reverses of Buller's forces in attempting the relief are more than compensated in military glory by the stanch defense made by the force under Sir George White.

Following as closely upon French's relief of Kimberley and Roberts' victory over Cronje, which marked the turning point in the war, English enthusiasm over the successful advance on Ladysmith has not been so wildly demonstrative as might have been expected. The success of French and Roberts showed the English people that the situation was now well in hand and Ladysmith's relief, which a month ago would have been welcomed with frantic delight, was received with stoical confidence as if it were but an incident in the list of British victories expected from now on. Of course the lighter element indulged in the customary ebullition of noisy transport, but the great mass of the public take it as stated. The British march to Pretoria is now regarded as only a matter of time. The average Englishman may tell you that of course there'll be some fighting but really it will not amount to much. Bobs and Kicthener are there and are held to be invincible. The war party is in the saddle and the peace advocates have taken to the woods.

Ladysmith has been besieged since November 2. Buller took command October 3. The Boers invaded Natal October 12. The British, under General Penn Symons, advanced to meet them, and were repulsed October 20 at Glencoe, Symons being killed. Next day the Gloucestershire regiment, part of the Dublin Fusiliers and a battery were captured by the Boers. White's force then retired upon Ladysmith and were closed up by the Boers. Buller, advancing to their relief, was defeated at Colenso November 15, eighteen miles from Ladysmith. Later he crossed the Tugela three times, and was driven back each time. Two weeks ago he tried a new plan, and the diversion caused by Roberts' advance in the west drew off a large part of the enemy before Ladysmith, allowing Buller to proceed. The capture of Pieter's hill by the Inniskilling Fusiliers Tuesday opened up the way at last, and the relief column went through last night. It is likely Buller will now advance into the Transvaal by Laing's nek pass, or at at least make an attempt to do so, keeping the force under Joubert occupied while Roberts advances on Bloemfontein and thence by the west to Pretoria.

CRONJE UNDER ESCORT.

He and His Family Started From Roberts' Camp, In Charge of Major General Prettyman.

LONDON, March 1.—The war office received a dispatch from Lord Roberts, containing the following:

"PAARDEBERG, Feb. 28.—Cronje, with his family, left here yesterday in charge of Major General Prettyman and under the escort of the City Imperial volunteers and mounted infantry.

"Later in the day the remaining prisoners went in charge of the Earl of Erroll and escorted by the Gloucesters and 100 Imperial volunteers. The women and children are being sent to their homes. I understand that great dissatisfaction was felt by the Boers at Cronje's refusal to accept my offer of safe conduct to the women and children, and medical care for the wounded, 170 of whom are now in our hospital. Very many of them are in a terrible plight for want of care at an earlier stage.

"I inspected the Boers' laager yesterday and was much struck by the ingenuity and energy with which the position was made almost impregnable to assault."

INNISKILLING'S LOSS.

Suffered Severely In Their Attack on Railway Hill—Boers and British Fraternized.

LONDON, March 1.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Colenso, dated Monday, describing the famous advance of the Inniskillings on Friday, says:

"I saw the first company waver and then break before a sheet of well directed leaden hail, and within a minute

MAJOR RICHARD ALBRECHT.

A Foreign Officer, Who Was With Cronje, Captured by the British.

not a man was left standing. It seemed to me that the brave company of fusiliers was annihilated.

"Shortly afterward, however, I could see some of them move, then rise, and finally walk quietly to the rear, taking cover. The supporting company was also cut up, but not so severely.

"The Boers are placed on high, unassailable kopjes; and it would take ten times their number to carry these positions successfully. The kopjes command the railway from Colenso to Ladysmith, and a real right flank attack is rendered impossible, owing to a high and precipitous ravine which opens upon the Tugela, while the left is too open and void of cover and cannot be seriously considered as a means of assault.

"The Boers and British fraternized during yesterday's armistice. It is reported that 4,000 Boers have left the vicinity of Ladysmith for Dundee."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Pieters' station, dated Sunday, Feb. 25, and descrivtng the 12 days' continuous fighting, of which the attack upon Railway hill by the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers was one of the supreme movements, said in part: "The Inniskillings joined the column with 24 officers. They have five left. That tells the tale."

SORROW OF THE QUEEN.

She Cabled Deep Regret For Losses of the Irish Troops, With General Buller.

LONDON, March 1.—The queen telegraphed General Buller as follows: "I have heard with the deepest concern the heavy losses sustained by my brave Irish soldiers, and I desire to express my sympathy and admiration of the splendid fighting qualities they have exhibited throughout these trying operations."

In her dispatch to Lord Roberts following the announcement of the surrender of General Cronje, her majesty said:

"Accept for yourself and for all under your command, my warmest congratulations on this splendid news."

Lord Roberts replied as follows:

"All under my command are deeply grateful for your majesty's most gracious message. Congratulations from their queen are an honor the soldiers dearly prize."

General Buller wired his thanks to the queen for her telegram of "gracious sympathy and encouragement."

Third Avenue Offered Firm Resistance and Once Actually Rose—Other Features of the Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Additional mechanics' liens were piled up Wednesday upon the assets of the Third avenue, and a receiver was appointed; yet the stock offered firm resistance at Tuesday's low level, and rose at one time as much as 8½. The franchise tax commission, which recent rumors by professional bears have credited with a purpose to practically confiscate the net earnings of local corporations, began its sittings Wednesday, but the stocks of the New York public utilities rose from 2½ to 6 points. Public reports alleged continued demoralization and cutting of prices of Sugar, and the conviction of professional speculations remains unshaken that the next dividend will be cut; but Sugar shows a net gain of 3¼.

The simple explanation is that bear traders have been selling these stocks without holding certificates with which to make delivery, and when they tried to buy they found a horde of traders in the same situation, and a lively competition sprang up to secure the floating supply. People's Gas, the Tobacco stocks, a number of the metal stocks, Western Union and some others which have been under recent pressure moved upward under the same pressure. Relieved of the elements of acute weakness which have recently dragged it back, the railroad list rose strongly and quite uniformly, the exceptions being stocks which have already advanced in face of the recent weakness.

The movement in Grangers, led by Burlington, was based on the fall of snow in the northwest, which is believed to afford security to the wheat in the ground, as was reflected by the downward tendency of that cereal on the grain exchanges. This movement is of special interest, as being the first of any moment in the stock market founded on the prospects of this year's crop, thus ushering in a new influence and hazard, which will play a growing part in the problem of values. The closing was strong and active at about the best.

The bond market was not very active, but was firm. Total sales, par value, $1,595,000.

United States 5s, coupon, advanced ½, and do registered old 4s and 3s ¼, and new 4s declined ½ in the bid price.

AGAINST THE WOMEN.

Resolution Proposing Giving Them Right to Vote, Defeated In House, at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, March 1.—The house defeated a resolution proposing to amend the constitution by giving women the right to vote at all elections after Jan. 1, 1901, by 49 nays to 57 yeas. Eighty nine votes were required to adopt. The proposition received more votes than in any previous legislature.

The senate unanimously passed the Roberts bill, creating a state board for the examination of stationary engineers, and it is now a law.

Wants to See Home Again.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—William Crawford, of Junction City, Ky., was a passenger on the Pennsylvania southwestern express, on his way from Europe to his home. Mr. Crawford is 77 years old and is a veteran of the Mexican war. He was hurt on a government transport while serving under General Zachary Taylor, and while visiting his birthplace at Oldham, England, suffered a paralytic stroke, resulting from an injury he had received so many years before. He hoped to see his bluegrass home before his death.

If Finance Bill Becomes Law.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—It is authoritatively stated at the treasury department that in case the pending finance bill becomes a law the exchange of old bonds for the new 2 per cents will be made in the order in which they are actually received at the treasury, after the bill becomes a law.

Pennsy Gets Horseshoe Bend.

HARRISBURG, March 1.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company at last has undisputed possession of the famous horseshoe bend, above Altoona, and Altoona now owns the ground on which her waterworks are located. Grants were recently secured from the state.

NIGHT BLOOMING CEREUS.

There is a flower that blooms by night,
When all the land is still,
When only nightingales are heard
And dews their wine distill.
It loveth not the glare of day,
The noise of busy noon,
Alone revealing its pure heart
Unto the lady moon.

When other blossoms lie at rest,
It watches like a saint,
And all night long it wearies not
Until the shadows faint.
Let others call it what they may,
Hope's star it is to me,
That only when the morning comes
From its sweet task is free.

Let other flowers win the praise
Of laughter, mirth and song,
My blossom lights the thorny path
Of grief's unhappy throng,
And when I find it fast asleep,
While suns are shining bright,
I know 'twill waken when I dream
And guide me through the night.

THE CRASH OF HEAVY GUNS.

Fearful Strain of the Concussion Upon the Nerves and Ears.

The stunning report of each gun as it is fired is something that a stranger on the deck will long remember. There is an old saying, "deaf as a post." Now, in the royal navy, this is changed to "deaf as a post captain."

No man can go through a long series of gunnery practices without having his hearing very seriously affected. Some men put cotton wool in their ears, but even this precaution does little to deaden the terrible shock. And if the firing of one or two guns has such a shattering power, what would be the effect if the whole armament were in action together?

It is almost impossible to conceive the strain upon nerve and senses of the rending concussion. If a visitor watches the firing of one of the monster 9 inch guns and then places himself beside one of the smaller pieces, the report made by the one will not appear much louder than that of the other. The extra distance to the muzzle of the big piece discounts the sound. The only apparent difference between the two appears to be that the small pieces have a sharper, higher pitched note, and that the 6 and 9 inch guns speak with more of a bellowing roar.

One piece of advice may be given to any one who finds himself in the neighborhood of a gun in action. The noise will not have nearly the same effect if you are watching the gun as if the crash comes unexpectedly. Unconsciously nature prepares you to resist a shock which is known to be impending.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Popping the Question.

A writer in Lady's Realm says there are certain precautions which all lovers should take when proposing. Never propose, says an old student of woman, when returning from the theater. She will be still under the spell of one of the actors, and beside his romantic figure you dwindle into insignificance. It is better to propose on the way to the theater or some entertainment. Rather than upset an evening's enjoyment by rejecting your suit, she will accept you. Never, continues our mentor, propose to a young lady after having a meal with her. Her imagination is chilled by the process of digestion, while there is nothing that so degrades a man in a girl's eyes as to see him eat a hearty meal.

Was it not Charlotte Bronte who lost her admiration for Thackeray after seeing him eat? On the occasion of their first meeting at a dinner party Thackeray took Charlotte Bronte down to dinner. Thackeray was hungry, and as he ate steadily at his dinner her admiration and awe gradually faded away. At last, when she saw the great man of her visions attacking a huge potato, she called out in despair, "Oh, don't, Mr. Thackeray!"

A Happy Expedient.

Some few years back a colonel commanding some marines was much exercised in his mind as to how to deal with two of his men who were continually fighting. Threats, pack drill and even cells were tried, but were of no avail. No sooner were they free than they flew at one another and were at it again with worse results than before.

At last he hit on a happy expedient. The next time the men were brought before him he set them to clean all the windows in the barracks, one inside, the other out, and neither to go to the next window till the other had finished. The next morning they started, and after glaring at one another for three or four windows the situation became too ludicrous. They both burst out laughing and have been good friends ever since.—London Answers.

Tragedy In an Alderman's Office.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—William Jackson, a butler for H. J. Heinz, shot and probably mortally wounded Annie Houston, colored, with whom he was in love, and then suicided, in Alderman Negley's office, on Collins avenue. He had made information against the woman and Rufus Brown, colored, who was present.

The Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Board of trade markets were quiet Wednesday. The heavy snowfall was a bearish influence in wheat, May closing ⅞@1c under Tuesday. May corn and May oats closed each a shade down. May pork closed 15c depressed. May lard 2½@5c lower and May ribs 5c down.

Condition of E. J. Phelps.

NEW HAVEN, March 1.—The condition of F. J. Phelps, ex-minister to England, while not critical is still as serious as it has been for some weeks.

Fire In Connellsville.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 1.—Fire broke out in the large frame Stillwagon building on the corner of Main and Pittsburg streets, and for a time it appeared as if the whole business center of the town would be swept away, the wind raging at a rate of 40 miles an hour. The whole Stillwagon building was gutted and drenched with water. The loss was about $15,000, covered by insurance.

Dr. Graydon Dead.

CINCINNATI, March 1.—Dr. T W. Graydon died from appendicitis. Dr. Graydon served in the state legislature several years ago and has been prominent in local politics.

FAMOUS LOST RIVER.

A PECULIAR STREAM WHICH SUDDENLY DISAPPEARS.

It Sinks Into the Earth Through an Unfathomable Hole and Bursts Forth Again From a Hill Miles Away and Then Repeats the Trick.

Famous Lost river manifests its strange disposition through the northern and eastern sections of Orange county, Ind. The river, parent of all smaller ones, gushes from a bluff in Washington county, a stream with strong current which carries everything before it. It runs in well defined banks for several miles and then suddenly disappears. Near Orleans it sinks into a great cavernous hole which might very readily be taken as the entrance to the lower regions and from which the river gained its secondary name, the river Styx. The sink is black and unfathomable and even in the driest season has never been explored, although it has been ascertained that the descent is gradual and about 590 feet.

Several miles from the first sink the stream comes forth from the side of a hill and, after running on the surface a mile or more, again sinks. By sawdust and wooden ball tests it has been ascertained that another stream which rushes from the side of a bluff eight miles distant in altogether another section of the country is a continuation of Lost river. This disappears in another sink, runs through an underground passage a mile or more in length and finally empties into White river.

It is claimed the subterranean streams do not follow a single channel, but that the entire section is honeycombed by a complex system of mains and leads.

Lost river was evidently a surface stream thousands of years ago. There is a well defined, deep rock bed leading from sink hole to sink, and in freshet season, when the volume of water becomes too great for the subterranean passageways to carry, the overflow follows the old river bed and joins the subterranean streams at the "rises." The old surface course is overgrown with trees and briers and some of these indicate that the surface course has not been used for at least centuries. Another evidence of its long habit of following underground sinks is shown by the mound builders' earthworks thrown up at various points where the river sinks away. Some of these mounds are the finest found north of the Ohio river.

Of the surface tributaries to Lost river the most remarkable is known as Stamper creek, which gushes forth from the sides of a bluff near Millersburg. It has a rampant little current which carries everything with it to a sink hole a mile distant. No one knows exactly where it comes out, but some claim it makes its appearance at Spring Mills, six miles south. Here Lick creek bursts out of the base of a hill, just in the rear of the mill. Farther down stream Lick creek sinks away from view, and then comes up and flows to New Prospect, where it empties into Lost river.

There are several other surface feeders which are quite as freakish. Near them are found caverns through which subterranean streams flow. They are filled with eyeless fishes and water animals. In some the streams have a swift current and are evidently part of the Lost river system. At certain points in the county the surface has caved in and shows Lost river running underground to the depth of 100 feet. How the water is again elevated to the surface is not known. The passageways are through white rock, worn smooth and white by the water.

Those who have made a study of the subterranean streams of Indiana and Kentucky have advanced the theory that away below the surface of Indiana—in at least the southern portion—there is a secondary great system of waterways and subterranean rivers. Some geologists of note have concurred in this theory. It is known that such streams do exist in the extreme southern section. Wyandotte and other caves owe their origin to these streams. Some years ago a subterranean stream was found running under Rush county, almost 70 miles northeast. The water can be heard roaring through the passageways and at times the course seems to be overtaxed. It evidently flows a great distance from the northeast and probably has its source in the St. Lawrence river system. At English a flood resulted in the discovery of another lost river. A new cavern was opened by the water in Crawford county.

The attractiveness of Lost river and its tributaries is enhanced greatly by the weird, wild scenery of Orange county. There is no section of the state where the scenery is more striking and diversified.

Near the mouth of the river are the famous West Baden and French Lick springs, which throw off a water brackish in taste and green cast in color, which has become noted over the entire world.—Indianapolis Press.

He Once Knew Something.

A middle aged gentleman who has been looking over his old school examination papers writes to The Academy expressing his chagrin at the discovery of the fact that he knows less than he did years ago. "I knew some things then—arithmetic, for example. Today I am at the mercy of any waiter who brings me change. At booking offices I keep vast crowds waiting and missing their trains while I do laborious subtraction sums in my head, but at school what a hand I was at figures! Look at this:

"'Three graziers, A, B and C, rent a piece of pasture land for a month. A puts on 27 cattle for 21 days, B 19 for 24 days and C 23 for 25 days. If at the end of the month the rent and other charges amount to £23 5s. 10d., how much of this ought to be paid by each?'

"I could do that in 1884. I couldn't do it now. I have no idea where to begin. It may be easy, but the point is that I have not the key. There used to be a jugglery with x, and I could manage it. Now that I pay income tax and have statements of account from my publisher every half year I can manage it no longer. And I seem to have known zoology too. Zoology! I seem to have been able to describe and draw diagrams of the heart and principal blood vessels of the crayfish. Once—good heavens—once I was a well informed boy. Today I don't see how I should pass the third class college of preceptors."—London Academy.

The Navy Man's Life.

"Laymen call our life exciting and think that we see a lot of the world," said the navy man, "but it's a big mistake. What do we know of any of the ports we visit? The pier, other boats that may happen to be there at the same time, and the English club of the town—that's all we see. And it's all we know about. After you've touched at a few ports and gone through the same performance over and over again, you get mighty tired of it.

"As for our life, what is it but a perpetual club life? There are a few professional club demands, but the rest of our time is spent in much the same way that a man spends his at his club—in smoking, reading, in swapping lies, in making oneself agreeable to one's friends who may do him the honor of a visit and in making oneself agreeable to some other fellow's friends who may do him the honor of a visit—that's the sum of our existence, and when you think that's it for day in and day out, you can but agree that a whole lifetime of it might begin to pall.

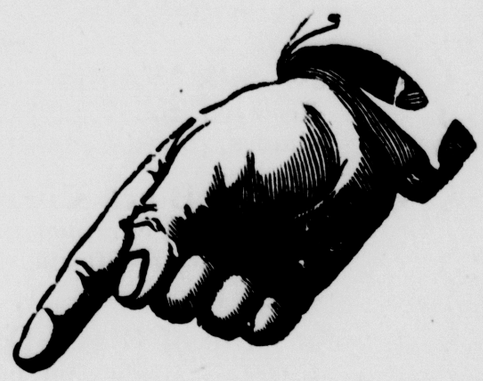

"It's like wearing evening clothes all the time or spending one's life at the opera, or always having dessert and nothing else for dinner. All play and no work makes a dull boy of almost any Jack. I sometimes wonder how any of us navy men manage to rise superior to our opportunities for sinking into stupidity's lowest depths."—New York Sun.

UNION LABELS

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

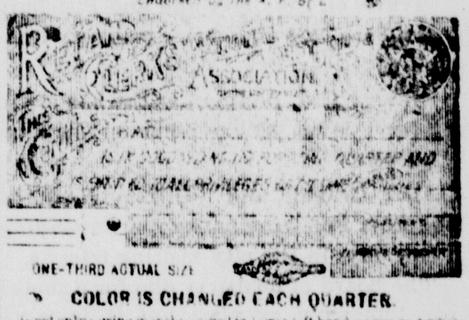

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns

15TH YEAR. NO. 221. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, MARCH. 1, 1900. TWO CENTS

TARIFF FOR THE ISLAND.

Porto Ricon Measure Went Through the House.

PASSED BY A VOTE OF 161 TO 172.

Six Republicans Balloted Against Bill and Four Democrats For It—Six Men Brought From Beds of Sickness—Sibley's Clash With Democrats.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The battle royal over the Porto Ricon tariff bill ended in the house in victory for the Republicans. The bill, amended as agreed upon at the conference of Republicans on Monday night, so as to reduce the tariff from 25 to 15 per cent of the American tariff, and limiting its life to two years, was passed by a vote of 172 yeas to 161 nays. Six Republicans, Messrs. Crumbacher (Ind.), Fletcher (Minn.), Heatwole (Minn.), Littlefield (Me.), Lorimer (Ills.), and McCall (Mass.), voted with the opposition against the bill, and four Democrats, Messrs. Davey and Myer (La.), Devries (Cal.), and Sibley (Pa.), voted with the Republicans for the bill. In addition, Mr. Warner (Rep., Ills.) was paired against the bill with Mr. Boutelle (Rep., Me.), for it.

Two other Republicans, Mr. Lane (Ia.) and Faris (Ind.) were absent and unpaired. They were understood to be against the bill. Four Democrats who were opposed to the bill, Messrs. Fleming, (Ga.), Small (N. C.), Smith (Ky.) and Stallings (Ala.) were absent and unpaired. Other pairs were Gibson (Tenn.), Reeves (Ills.), Boutelle (Me.), Harmer (Pa.), Bailey (Kan.), Sheldon (Mich.), Wadsworth (N. Y.), all Republicans, for the bill, with Tate (Ga.), Parkman (Fla.), Fox (Miss.), Bellamy (N. C.), Cox (Tenn.) and Epes (Va.), Democrats, all against the bill. Herculean efforts had been made to get out the full vote and this led to some remarkable incidents.

Six men were brought from beds of sickness; two of them from hospitals. Mr. Brownlow, of Tennessee, was brought in a carriage accompanied by his wife and physician. He sat bundled up near the entrance until his vote was given, and then withdrew. It was felt that the strain would be severe on him, but when Mr. Tawney, the Republican whip, urged that the bill might be lost by this one vote, Mr. Brownlow said: "I would rather lose my life than see this bill defeated." Mr. Tawney and three assistants were out in carriages until midnight Tuesday night accounting for every vote, and Mr. Underwood, the Democratic whip, was similarly exerting every means to get out his vote. Three Democrats were brought from sick beds.

The first test was on a substitute offered by Mr. McCall, on behalf of the opposition. It was the original Payne bill for free trade with Porto Rico, and was defeated, 160 to 174. Only five Republicans voted for the substitute. Mr. Fletcher (Rep., Minn.), who subsequently voted to recommit and against the bill, voted against the substitute. A motion to recommit it, which followed, shared a similar fate, being lost, 160 to 172. There was great excitement throughout the roll calls, which were followed with eager interest by thousands of spectators, who packed the galleries to suffocation. The Republicans indulged in a demonstration of wild jubilation when the final result was announced.

During the debate Mr. Sibley (Pa.) announced his intention of voting for the bill. While we were debating the situation the people of Porto Rico were starving.

"The emergency," interrupted Mr. Williams (Ills.), "is not in Porto Rico, but in the politics of the Republican party." [Democratic applause.]

Mr. Sibley—You have located the politics on the wrong side. [Republican applause.]

Mr. Williams—It is pretty hard to locate you. [Laughter.]

Mr. Sibley replied that, as he had said before, his seat could be considered constructively on the Republican side. Continuing, he said that if it was established that every foot of territory owned by the United States was on absolute equality, then he was opposed to the whole policy of expansion. If the inhabitants of the Philippines could compete with American production and American labar, he was willing to give the archipelago to Aguinaldo.

Mr. Sibley concluded with a scathing characterization of his Democratic critics.

Porto Ricon Tests His Citizenship.

WASHINGTON,, March 1.—Suit was filed in the United States court of claims by Ludwig Duplace, of Porto Rico, to recover $6,534, which he has paid as customs duties on goods imported from the United States. He bases his right to recover on the claim that he is a citizen of the United States, under the treaty of peace with Spain and the constitution of the United States.

COMES TO VOTE TODAY.

Hawaiian Bill to Be Acted Upon In the Senate—McLaurin Spoke For Expansion.

WASHINGTON, March 1. — Notwithstanding the agreement made by the senate to vote on the Hawaiian government bill at Wednesday's session, the final vote on the measure was postponed until 4 o'clock today. Practically no progress was made on the bill Wednesday, although it was under consideration nearly four hours.

Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, at the opening of the session, made an explanation of the work of the conferees on the financial measure, his statement resulting in an expected and spirited debate.

One of the features of the session was the speech of Mr. McLaurin (Dem., S. C.) on the Philippine question.

He is the first Democrat in the senate to declare himself for expansion. He scouted what he termed the "bugbear of imperialism," with which some of his colleagues were trying to frighten the people, declared the question was not one of politics and maintained the acquisition of the Philippines would be of immense advantage to this country, especially the south, by opening to the United States the trade of the Orient.

IDAHO STRIKE INVESTIGATION.

A Publisher Told of Arrest and Confinement In "Bull Pen."

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The investigation of the course of the United States military forces in connection with the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, mining troubles was resumed by the house committee on military affairs. Wilbur H. Stewart, publisher of a paper at Mullan, Ida., a town near the scene of rioting, testified in part that he was arrested without a warrant at his office by State Auditor Bartlett Sinclair and an army officer. Mr. Sinclair stated to witness that he was accused of publishing seditious matter. A special train took him to Wallace and, after a night in jail, he was put in the "bull pen."

He said he was compelled by the negro soldiers to do revolting work. Mr. Stewart testified that when he got sick and refused to do the work on account of illness, the negro soldiers used obscene language and oaths against him, until the corporal of the guard made them desist.

TO APPEAL TO CONGRESS.

Kentucky Republicans Propose a Joint Convention of States to Secure an Election Law.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 1.—The Republican joint caucus of the legislature, after a long discussion concerning election laws in the south, and particularly the Goebel election law in this state, decided to take the initiative in a movement to bring the matter before congress.

The purpose is to call a convention, in which the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia are to take part, at which convention action is to be taken memorializing the congress to amend the national election laws so as to take out of the hands of the election machinery of the various state governments the details of at least congressional and presidential elections.

Couple Found Dead.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Morris Speidel and Myrtle Johnson were found dead at the house of Mrs. Cora Pforr, who rents out rooms, at 439 Third avenue. It is supposed they suicided. Speidel was employed at the Columbia hotel and the Johnson woman was an inmate of Margaret Le Roy's house at 525 Third avenue.

WOE IN LADYSMITH

Besieged Suffer From Bad Water and Heat.

LOW VITALITY AMONG SOLDIERS.

Would Probably Hold Their Own Against Attack, but Cannot Take Initiative. Others Suffer From Fever Dysentery and Diarrhœa.

LONDON, March 1.—General Buller's tidings come weighted with his long list of casualties. His losses in the four attempts to get General White out aggregate 4,000.

Ladysmith is in desperate straits. Charles Williams, the military expert, says he learns on very high authority—presumably that of Lord Wolesley—that "General White's force is almost at its last gasp."

"This is not so much," says Mr. Williams, "on account of any lack of provisions or of ammunition, neither of which is yet exhausted, as because of the poisonous waters of the Klip river and the evil effects of the heat on the Terrain, in which the garrison must reside. Even those who have escaped fever, dysentery and diarrhœa are in a state of low vitality. They can still man trenches, and would probably hold their own against a last desperate assault, but they can initiate nothing. General Buller now knows that, as units, the regiments will be of no use to him for months.

"The water of Klip river is not available for drinking, and to boil it is impossible, because of the scarcity of fuel. It is thick with putrid animal matter. Tea made of it has a suspended fiber, something like beef tea. It is caused by the sewage from the Boer camp."

Mr. Williams adds that when news like this passes under the thumb of the censor it more than offsets whatever jolly news may be heliographed from Ladysmith.

General Buller's distinct success in storming Pieter's hill brings the rescue of Ladysmith near, but the war office intimated late last evening that an immediate announcement of relief need not be expected. The goings to and fro at midnight of officials and messengers suggested that important news had been received. If this were the case, Lord Lansdowne obviously desired to sleep on it before taking the public into his confidence.

As his message reveals, General Buller's successful attack came after the hard fighting of Friday, and it was improvised and its execution begun during the armistice of Sunday. In proposing the armistice, the British commander stipulated that both sides should be free to move, but that neither should do any shooting. He was, therefore, within his privileges in immediately beginning to transfer his troops.

There is no authoritative indication yet of what Lord Roberts will do next. It seems likely that a branch railway will be built across the veldt, to lessen the difficultiee of transport. Colonel Girouard, who built the Soudan railway, is with Lord Roberts. The strain on the Western railway is seen from the fact that the population of Kimberley, two weeks after the relief, continues on reduced rations. Lord Roberts' troops, thus far, have been only partially fed.

It is quite clear to technical heads that those who talk of an immediate and rapid advance far into the Free State do not realize the transport conditions. The Boers, as it now appears, have built a railway from Harrismith to Kroomstad to facilitate the movement of their troops between Natal and the Free State.

Mafeking was holding out on Feb. 6. At that time the Boers were showing unusual activity and firing inflammable shells.

The Boers who hold positions south of the Orange river have been weakened.

Lieutenant Barentzen, writing on behalf of himself and of other Scandivavian prisoners, affirms that there are no mercenaries in the Boer army and no volunteers who receive a penny for their services.

PIETERS' HILL CAPTURED.

Buller Reported a Gallant and Successful Attack by British Soldiers.

LONDON, March 1.—The war office received the following dispatch from General Buller:

"HEADQUARTERS, Alandwani, Feb. 28.—Finding that the passage of Langewachts spruit was commanded by strong intrenchments, I reconnoitered from another passage of the Tugela. One was found for me below the cataract by Colonel Sandbach, Royal Engineers, on Feb. 25. We commenced making an approach thereto, and on Feb. 26, finding that I could make the passage practicable, I crossed the guns and baggage back to the south side of the Tugela, took up the pontoon bridge on Monday night and relayed it at the new site, which is just below the point marked cataract. During all this time the troops had been scattered, crouching under hastily constructed small stone shelters and exposed to a galling shell and rifle fire, and throughout they maintained the most excellent spirits.

"Tuesday General Barton, with two battalions of the Sixth brigade and the Dublin Fusiliers, crept about a mile and a half down the banks of the river, and ascended an almost perpendicular cliff of about 500 feet, assaulted and carried the top of Pieter's hill. This hill, to a certain extent, turned the enemy's left and the Fourth brigade, under Colonel Norcott, and the Eleventh brigade, Colonel Kitchener commanding, the whole under command of General Warren, assaulted the enemy's position which was magnificently carried by the South Lancashire regiment about sunset. We took about 60 prisoners and scattered the enemy in all directions. There seems to be still a considerable body of them left on and under Bulwana mountain.

"Our losses, I hope, are not large. They certainly are much less than they would have been were it not for the admirable manner in which the artillery was served, especially the guns manned by the Royal naval force and the Natal naval volunteers.

ADVISED HILL TO OPEN LETER

Congressman Campbell Testified In the Clark Senatorial Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Congressman Campbell, chief counsel for the prosecution in the Clark case, was on the stand during the greater part of the day before the senate committee on elections. He said that while he had attended the preliminary conference of friends of Mr. Clark, which resulted in the anti-Daly campaign, he had not heard much of the talk, having gone to sleep. He had given the Clark people no formal notice when he decided to discontinue his allegiance to Mr. Clark, and he did not become unfriendly to Mr. Clark until he became dissatisfied with his campaign methods.

He emphatically denied Ben Hill's statement that he (Campbell) had opened the Bickford letter bearing upon the prosecution of Mr. Whiteside, but confessed that he had advised Hill to open it, saying that he felt it to be so important to Whiteside to protect him from an unjust prosecution that he would have advised this course even if he had been familiar with the penal statutes, which he was not.

Lieutenant Waugh Killed Himself.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—General Otis reported to the war department that Second Lieutenant John R. Waugh, Thirty-ninth volunteer infantry, shot himself through the heart while temporarily deranged from extreme nervousness, on the 27th inst., at Manila. Lieutenant Waugh was born in Nebraska in 1876.

Killed In the Philippines.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 1.—A letter received from Bandmaster Mestrezaat, of the Thirteenth regiment, states that Joe Burns, of the band, of Pittsburg, was killed in the Philippines. Butler Clark, another Pittsburger, has been discharged and will be sent home on account of sunstroke, from which he may never recover. Eight men killed and many wounded are the result of the campaign in the south during January, the letter says.

Given More Time.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—An order was made in common pleas court No. 1 yesterday on the representations of Attorneys Clarence Burleigh and Willis T. McCook, giving all the defendants except three in the Frick-Carnegie case 15 more days to answer.

Triple Tragedy In West Virginia.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., March 1.—Joseph Glean, a farmer living near here, killed his daughter and her lover and then cut his own throat. Glean had forbidden Albert Marsh to call upon his daughter.

FOUR FIRES TO FIGHT

Blazes In New York, Apparently Incendiary.

LIVES OF THREE CHILDREN LOST.

Firemen and Policemen Made a Number of Thrilling Rescues—An Apartment House and Tenement Gutted—Other Fires Easily Extinguished.

NEW YORK, March 1.—A fierce fire broke out in a tenement at 1691 Third avenue. The police and firemen made many thrilling rescues, and after the fury of the flames had been spent the bodies of three children were found in the ruins. They are thought to be the children of Edward Friedman, who lived on the top floor of the building.

A dozen or more people were rescued in a semi-conscious or unconscious condition. Policeman Thomas Tracy did valorous services, entering the burning building repeatedly and finally dropping on the third floor overcome by smoke. His comrades carried him out unconscious and he was sent to the Presbyterian hospital. He will recover.

Another policeman carried out a 5-five-year old boy who was found almost dead on the third floor.

The fire broke out in the basement of the building and the entire structure was destroyed. The financial loss is about $25,000.

While the firemen were fighting this fire, another broke out on Third avenue, just five blocks away, under almost similar circumstances. The fire was quickly extinguished. At the same time there was a fire burning at 1828 Second avenue, very close at hand, where a four-story flat house was entirely gutted. Here, also, the police and firemen made a number of rescues.

A few minutes later, about midway between the two fires on Third avenue, a fourth fire broke out at 1755, in the bottom of an air shaft.

This was also easily extinguished.

The police and Chief Crocker of the fire department are strongly of the opinion that the fires were prearranged and the work of incendiary origin.

MRS. SCHMIDTLAPP DEAD.

She and an Unknown Woman Victims of Missouri Pacific Wreck.

KANSAS CITY, March 1.—Two are dead, one is dying and six others are more or less seriously injured as a result of the tail end collision on the Missouri Pacific railroad, near Independence, Mo.

The Dead.

Mrs. J. G. Schmidtlapp, of Cincinnati, wife of millionaire J. G. Schmidtlapp.

Unknown woman, cremated, believed to be from St. Louis.

Injured.

Miss Emma Schmidtlapp, of Cincinnati, cannot live.

W. R. Vaughan, a Cincinnati newspaper man, arm broken in two places.

Mrs. J. Balke, mother of Mrs. Schmidtlapp, arm broken, badly burned about face.

J. G. Schmidtlapp, husband of Mrs. Schmidtlapp, arm broken and head bruised.

L. F. Sheldon, Sedalia, badly bruised and cut.

William Ryan, baggagemaster, slightly injured.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Flagman Laid Down and Engine Ran Partly Over Him.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Jacob M. Adams, a West Penn flagman, slipped on the icy track before a slowly running engine. After trying to crawl from in front of the train, he laid down flat, the engine passing partly over him. The ashbox was just squeezing him when the engine was stopped.

In an interview, he expressed a conviction that the Lord had spared his life.

Killed by a Fall.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—Peter Engel, a slate roofer, was killed in Bellevue by falling from the roof of a new house on Jackson street, where he was at work. His neck was broken and he sustained a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

WILL LAST FIVE YEARS.

CHARLES GOODBALLET ON PHILIPPINE WAR.

Sick People In East End—Postoffice receipts Make Good Showing.

Conrad Goodballet, of Helana, yesterday received a letter from his brother, Charles Goodballet, a member of Co. H, Seventh infantry, now in the Philippines. The letter was written at Angeles. Goodballet states that in his opinion it will be at least five years before the United States troops conquer the Filipinos, as they are continually appearing in all parts of the islands in squads, and after firing a few shots, retreat, without doing any harm to the United States soldiers.

Goodballet says he is enjoying good health but is getting homesick. He does not expect to get back to Liverpool for several years. Goodballet is well known in East End, having resided there before his enlistment.

Among the Sick.

Doctor Calhoun is able to be out after a few weeks' illness.

Contractor John Schmelzenbach was walking the East End streets yesterday afternoon for the first time since he became ill, which was six weeks ago.

William House, of St. George street, is very.

Harvey Hazlett, of Dry Run, is very ill with grip.

Trimming Stone.

Contractor John Schmelzenbach, who has the contract for the stone work for the East End school, has a number of stone masons at work trimming stones for the steps and sills. The contractor stated yesterday afternoon that the balance of his contract would be completed within the next month if the weather was favorable.

Postoffice Receipts.

The receipts for the East End postoffice for the month of February, which closed last evening, showed a decrease over the business transacted during the previous month. The receipts were, stamps sold $99.66, money order business $540.39. It being a short month the receipts were considered very large.

Real Estate Deals Pending.

A real estate dealer stated yesterday afternoon that a number of deals for real estate in that part of the city were pending, and that at least one large lot on Pennsylvania avenue would change hands within the next 10 days.

Had a Good Time.

The social given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sue Smith on St. George street was well attended, and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Attorney General's Decision Regarding Boards of Health.

Attorney General Sheets has rendered two opinions in answer to queries from Secretary Probst, of the state board of health. In one of them he holds that county, township, village and city boards of health have no authority in law for charging fees for the issuing of burial permits or for any other function with which they may be charged. He has also given the opinion that members of a sanitary police force have the same power as ordinary policemen in making arrests without warrants.

WILL START EXCAVATING

NEXT MONDAY FOR THE NEW HOUSES.

Charles Moore Going to Colorado News of Chester People and About Grant District.

Everything is in readiness to commence the erection of the fifteen new houses on the addition of the South Side Land company. Architect Claude Nease has completed all preliminary arrangements, and next Monday morning, if the weather is favorable, the excavating will commence. These houses will prove to be one of the best improvements Chester ever had, excepting, of course, the mill and pottery now in course of erection. Although no work has been done on the houses yet, a number of Liverpool people have said they intend to rent some of the new houses as soon as they are completed and move their families to Chester.

Will Ballast the Road.

As soon as the weather opens the Street Railway company will commence to thoroughly overhaul the railway in Chester. This road was never ballasted, and at present is very uneven, and very rough to ride over. It would be folly for the company to place a good car on the road now, for within a few weeks it would be as bad as the car now on the road.

Repaired the Bridge.

Eph. Johnson yesterday afternoon made some needed repairs on the First street bridge. A portion of this bridge was raised to prevent the passing of trains under it but the work has never been completed. The bridge as it is at present is by no means in a safe condition, and the repairs started over a month ago should be completed.

Piling Up the Staves.

Hope Bros., who have a stave mill several miles back of Chester, have received a large order for staves from a Liverpool cask manufacturer. These staves are now being hauled to Chester and piled near the old oak tree. Next week they will be brought to Liverpool and delivered to the firm that ordered them.

Will Go to Colorado.

An auction sale was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Charles Moore, near Newell's Ferry, which was looked after by Justice Johnson. Moore and his family will move to Colorado about April, in which state he has purchased a large farm.

Working on the Roof.

Several men are now working at the new mill completing the roof on the galvanizing shop. It will require about two weeks to finish the job.

Among the Sick.

John McClure, who has been very ill with fever at his home on the Mrs. Huff farm, has recovered and is now able to be out.

To Move to Chester.

Herman Allison, who lives near Asbury Chapel, is arranging to move his family to Chester early in the spring.

Personal.

Prof. Bainbrick, of the Chester school, spent yesterday in Pittsburg on business.

Took Two Cases.

Infirmary Directors McBride and Hoopes were in the city yesterday and took charge of two cases that were referred to them by the township trustees. One of the parties is named Walsh and the other is the Stanley family.

Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued to M. J. Coulson, Dungannon, and Ella McQuilkin, Lisbon.

ALL THREE WILL RUN

McLane, Ashbaugh and McGeever to Have Election.

FOURTH WARDERS WILL VOTE

Again to See If They Can Settle on a Candidate For Council—The Election Will Be Held Saturday and None But Known Republicans Will Be Permitted to Vote.

The Fourth ward will have another election next Saturday between the hours of 12:30 and 6:30 to determine the tie between D. M. McLane and George W. Ashbaugh candidates for council from that ward.

The action was taken at the meeting of the central committee held last night and it was taken in deference to the wish of the candidates. All the parties who were on the ticket for council last Saturday can go on again, and the contestants will be D. M. McLane, George W. Ashbaugh and Michael McGeever. An effort will be made to get out the entire vote of the ward.

The committee then paid the bills of the recent primary and endorsed the ticket as selected at the primary held last Saturday.

The committee next adopted a resolution that any member of the central committee accepting money from any of the candidates for services rendered in furthering the cause of the candidate should be disqualified to serve as a member of the election board.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Kellar, the Magician,

who will be at the Grand next Saturday evening is acknowledged to be the finest magician upon the American stage today. He was seen here last year when he pleased a large and fashionable audience with his mystifying slight of hand performances. He has added a large number of new deceptions since his last appearance in the city.

Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown"

which comes to the Grand next Tuesday evening is at the Duquesne in Pittsburg this week and the Pittsburg papers cannot say too much for the show. East Liverpool people are to enjoy a rare treat in comedy when it appears here.

Patrons of the Grand

will have a chance to see one of Charles Frohman's best shows when "Because She Loved Him So" is presented here, and Manager Norris is to be congratulated upon securing such a fine production for his house.

WHAT IT COSTS.

Washing the Streets Is Not the Cheapest Thing In the World According to Estimate.

It is estimated that it will cost the city $14 to pump the water every night the streets are washed and when they are washed day and night it will cost double that amount, or $28. It is figured that this will be considerably cheaper than the old fashioned way of having men scrape the streets and another advantage is that the streets can be kept much cleaner.

"I've Got It."

Thus spake a well known citizen of East Liverpool this morning to the scribe. He was sneezing and coughing and holding his ribs, and to our query as to what he had "got," he chillingly and sarcastically replied: "The grip, you fool; can't you see what I've got, without asking fool questions?" And the poor fellow has lots of sympathizers in the city of East Liverpool just now.

A SAD CASE.

The Infirmary Directors Took Charge of a Case of Destitution.

There is an unusually sad case of destitution in a house on Seventh street The house in question is occupied by the family of A. J. Stanley and another family, making a total of 17 occupants of the one house. Of the 17 people 11 of them are sick. One young man has pneumonia, while the others have measles. The families were reported to the infirmary directors yesterday, and when they saw the state of affairs that existed they said it was one of the saddest cases they were called upon to look after.

EXPENSES ARE HEAVY.

Township Trustees Have More Sick People to Keep Than They Ever Had Before.

The township trustees have more cases of sickness on their hands than they have ever had at any one time, and for that reason their bills were higher last month. They expended last month $99.79 of the township funds and $104.10 of the county funds. This does not equal the amount they spent in the same month last year, when $324.31 of the township funds and $38 50 of the county funds was expended keeping the city poor.

William Erlanger will be home from his eastern trip tomorrow. He will have matters of interest to relate to readers of the NEWS REVIEW.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Two-Year-Old Son of Charles Powell, of Oblique Street.

CLOTHES CAUGHT ON A STOVE

Child Was Playing With Its Sister and Ran Against the Grate — Neighbor Extinguished the Flames With a Blanket, But Was Too Late to Save the Child.

While on her way to obtain a photograph of William R. Mountford for her son yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Powell, of 119 Oblique street, was recalled to her home to witness the death of James, her three-year-old son. The circumstances surrounding the death of the little fellow are extremely pathetic.

When Mrs. Powell went to get the photograph she left in the house with her little son, Margaret, the 11-year-old daughter. They were playing together as children do, when the boy started to play "catcher" with his sister. They were running about the kitchen and the dress of the boy became fastened in the grate of the stove and caught fire. He was soon enveloped in flames, and his screams attracted the attention of Johanna Conkle, living on the opposite side of the street. She ran over to the Powell home, and seeing the child's clothes on fire ran back to her home, secured a blanket from the second floor and went back to the child and smothered the flames by wrapping the blanket about it. Mr. Powell, boss kiln drawer at the Dresden pottery, was notified, as was also Mrs. Powell. They soon arrived at their home, only to find their son dying. A physician was summoned and after working some time succeeded in reducing the pain caused by the burns. Shortly after five o'clock, the boy commenced to ask about his brother and sister. They were about the bed at the time, but he could not see them, the flames having injured his sight. At five minutes of six death relieved his suffering.

THEY WERE ARRESTED.

The Principals In the Midway Alley Battle Are Brought to Justice.

Officer White yesterday afternoon arrested Peter Cannon and John Elliott for fighting last Tuesday evening in the Midway alley. The officer found both men unable to appear. Elliott came down to city hall this morning and paid a fine of $10.60. Cannon will appear in a few days.

SALEM CHINA WORKS.

Notes and Personals About the Pottery That Is of Interest Here.

The following news of the Salem pottery is from the Salem Herald:

The Salem China company has just received a large machine which will turn out pitchers, sugar bowls and odd shaped ware. These machines are not generally in use over the country. They displace labor to a small extent. This new machine will be put in operation next week. The employes do not greet its advent very cordially.

Work will be started on the new biscuit kiln at the pottery next week. When this is finished, it will give work to more employes and allow the pottery to get out work in better shape. Five kilns are now in operation at the plant.

The press and decorating departments are working until 9 o'clock each night.

Ernest Harper has resigned his position and has moved to East Liverpool.

Park Smith has quit in the clay department and returned to East Liverpool.

"Hob" Allison, of the packing room, has moved his family here from East Liverpool.

William Fitzgerald, of East Liverpool, has accepted a position in the jigger department.

It is said Joseph Andrews will go to East Liverpool next week and when he returns will not be alone. There is a woman in the case.

The Skill of a Mouse.

One day a naturalist lay motionless on a fallen log in the forest and silently watched an animal at play in the grass near by. This was a large brown backed mouse, a meadow mouse, that had come out from his home under the log and when tired of play had sat up to make his toilet. Using his forepaws as hands, the mouse combed the white fur on his breast and licked himself smooth and sleek. Satisfied at length with his appearance he began to search for food.

He did not have far to go, for a few stalks of wheat grew among the thick weeds near at hand. The mouse was so large that he could probably have bent the stalk down and brought the grain within reach. If not, he could certainly have climbed the stalk. He did not try either of these plans, however, for these were not his ways. Sitting up very straight, he bit through the stalk as high up as he could reach. The weeds were so thick that the straw could not fall its full length, and the freshly cut end settled down upon the ground, with the straw still erect and the grain out of reach. The mouse again bit the straw in two, and again the upper portion settled down. In this way he bit off five lengths of straw before he could bring the grain within reach of his paws. These forepaws were very skillful little hands, and he deftly husked a grain and ate it, sitting erect and holding it to his mouth as naturally as a boy would hold an apple.—Our Animal Friends.

A Cautious Recommendation.

A Devonshire clergyman was lately compelled to dismiss a clever gardener who used to purloin his fruit and vegetables. For the sake of his wife and family he gave him a character, and this is how he worded it: "I hereby certify that A. B. has been my gardener for over two years and that during that time he got more out of my garden than any man I ever employed."—Short Stories.

MRS. CLAY ASKS DIVORCE

Alleges Her Husband Eloped With Mrs. Skellan

AND GUILTY OF GROSS NEGLECT

Clays Were Married In England In 1879 and Have No Children—Missing Husband Left Her In May of Last Year.

LISBON, March 1.—[Special]—Elizabeth Clay, of East Liverpool, has applied for a divorce from William Clay on the grounds of infidelity and gross neglect of duty. The parties were married August 18, 1879, in England, and have no children. Plaintiff says that on May 14, 1899, the defendant eloped with Mrs. Nellie Skellan and has been living in a continuous state of infidelity ever since.

DEAL STILL ON.

New Cumberland People Are After Local Potters to Take the Chelsea.

The negotiations with George C. Murphy to operate the Chelsea pottery at New Cumberland are still pending, but there is no new development in the matter. The parties who have been trying to get the Chelsea started are now negotiating with other local potters and think they can get the plant started in a short time.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

Because It's For One Thing Only and East Liverpool Is Learning This.

Nothing can be good for everything
Doing one thing well brings success.
Doan's kidney pills do one thing only
They're for sick kidneys.
They cure a backache, every kidney ill.

Here is East Liverpool evidence to prove it.

Mr. C. McLean, of 187 Church alley who is employed in the East Liverpool Pottery company, says: "I had muscular rheumatism for three years in my back and kidneys. It caused much pain and suffering, the last years being the worst. I had a steady aching pain in my kidneys; extreme weakness in the muscles of the back; could not rest at night except lying flat on my back, and there was urinary weakness accompanying it. Although I had many bad attacks and used many different medicines I never obtained any relief. The worst attack I ever had, and which completely used me up, occurred just before I used Doan's kidney pills. Not having much faith left in medicines I was rather skeptical when I was recommended to try them, but got so bad that I had to get something, so I went for a box to the W. & W. pharmacy. They went direct to the kidneys and acted on the very fountain head of all the trouble, relieving me in a very short time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

DEWEY got out of Wheeling at the rate of 82 miles an hour. And that was too slow.

IT now appears that the Canadian invasion was to be made by Canuck troops into the Free State.

WITH the Irish cutting such a big figure on each side, the Transvaal looks like a Donnybrook fair.

THE city hall ought to be moved to Pennsylvania avenue. Council would then be able to transact nine-tenths of their talk on the spot.

THE Patriot speaks of the "disgraceful order" maintained in the Lisbon opera house. Something akin to the "graceful disorder" prevalent in the Democratic camp, possibly.

EDITOR NOLAN, of the Wellsville Record, is making a Buller-like effort to accomplish the seemingly impossible—publish a live paper in a dead town. But he certainly is galvanizing the corpse.

THE DOW TAX.

Senator Madden has introduced a bill in the state senate raising the Dow liquor tax from $250 to $500 a year. It is, of course, being vigorously opposed by the liquor element.

BOND BUYERS.

Representative McCormick, of Scioto, has introduced a bill in the legislature excepting county and municipal bonds from taxation after a specified date. Mr. McCormick's idea is to prevent the tendency to force bonds into the eastern market and knock out the advantage foreign buyers of bonds have over local bidders. No taxes are derived now anyhow.

NONE BUT REPUBLICANS.

This MUST be the rule in the Fourth ward on Saturday next, in the councilmanic contest between McLane, Ashbaugh and M'Geever, and the candidate who knowingly attempts to vote other than Republicans, should be read out of the party. It is an unanswerable truth that the primaries in East Liverpool have become a howling farce. Legislative action should establish the Australian system at the primaries and repeaters and perjurers be placed behind the bars.

FACE THE FOE.

Of course, we have reference to the infamous and accursed liquor traffic, the common foe of God and humanity, the antagonist of any and every good measure in existence. The liquor traffic is essentially evil and vile, and no GOOD thing can come from it. It has been and is now very largely in control in East Liverpool, and no sane or brainy man or woman will attempt to deny the fact. The GREAT majority of the citizens of East Liverpool are in favor of law and of order, and are the common foe of the liquor devil and his local agents. But this great majority of GOOD is controlled and ruled by the vicious MINORITY. Why? Simply because the evil and vicious liquor element is an ORGANIZED UNIT, the entirety thereof working as one man for the consummation of one central thought and purpose, while the good citizens, largely in the majority, are not organized or centralized, aiming at the common foe, and hence meet with defeat, and the evil element continues to control. God pity a city and citizens thus controlled.

There is another feature which we here desire to mention—the tendency of good men, through fear or on account of business ventures, to cater, to a marked degree, to the liquor league and its agents. Even church members, professed followers of the Nazarene, are afflicted with this disease. In the name of the all-powerful, all-wise, all-merciful and all-just God, Christian men and women of East Liverpool, put on the WHOLE ARMOR of God and face the common foe, bidding him open and uncompromising defiance. In Iowa, when the liquor league lately attempted to rule a great political party and give orders thereto, the answer was hurled in their teeth: "Go hide your ugly heads—the day of the rule of the whisky flask and the beer keg has ceased in this section." God grant that such may be the case in the grand old Buckeye state, and that the good tidings of great joy may be started in East Liverpool. As under present laws, the saloon is entitled to protection just so long as it obeys those LAWS. This is just and right. But the saloon and the saloon element WILL NOT OBEY THE LAWS. Therefore, God speed the day when the saloon shall cease to exist in this great Christian nation.

REGISTRATION.

LIVERPOOL VOTERS MAY HAVE TO REGISTER.

A Petition Sent to Archer Asking Him to Have the Legislature Pass the Necessary Bill.

Before the time for the presidential election arrives, it is probable the voters of East Liverpool will be compelled to register. The question has been agitated for some time and at last some action has been taken on it. Today a petition was sent to Senator F. B. Archer asking him to use his efforts to have the legislature pass a bill providing that voters in this city should be compelled to register, and it is expected that he will have no trouble in having the bill passed.

OUT AGAIN.

W. H. Streets' Arm Is Again Dislocated and He Will Probably Always Have a Stiff Joint.

Several days ago W. H. Streets had his arm dislocated in attempting to get on a moving street car. The arm was getting along very nicely and Mr. Streets failed to call on his physician. Yesterday it was discovered that he had thrown the arm out again and it would have to be reset. It is probable he will always suffer with a stiff joint as a result.

FEEAN TOOK A RIDE

And Came In Contact With a Telephone Pole.

HE SHIED A PIANO STOOL

Through a Window and Finished His Afternoon In the City Jail--He Put Up Security For His Appearance and Will Tell the Mayor About It Tonight.

James Feean yesterday drank not wisely but too well of the essence of corn juice and then started out to have a good time.

He commenced operations by hiring a horse and buggy from James Rayl for the purpose of taking a ride. He mounted the buggy seat like an old hand at the business and in a remarkably short time arrived at the conclusion that he was driving an old fashioned stage in the Rocky mountains. He passed street cars with the greatest of pomp and turned corners in first class style. Finally he came to a high cliff in the shape of a telephone pole on Jethro street and prepared to round it in good shape, but he came to grief. He made a short turn, and the buggy came in contact with the pole and Gentle Jeems was precipitated from his high seat to the hard, cold earth.

Luckily for Jeems, he was in close proximity to a saloon, so he filed into John Kountz's place to take a rest. He had been there but a short time, when he was filled with a spirit of unrest, and he decided he was the whole thing. Kountz didn't think so, and he and Jeems had trouble, and once more Jeems found himself out in the cold. This didn't suit him, and he determined to have music in some way, so he secured a piano stool, but didn't have anything to play on, so he shied the stool through a window to see if the sound it produced was good. The sound suited him all right, but it didn't suit Kountz, who thought it was anything but musical, and he called the patrol. Woods arrived in good order and Jeems was given a ride in the wagon, but he didn't do the driving this time, so he reached his destination in safety and put up security for his appearance this evening at 7:30.

ON THE RIVER.

Heavy Rains and Melting Snow Cause the River to Rise.

There is every prospect that if the present warm weather continues, the river will reach a 15 foot stage before many days, the heavy rain of the last 15 hours having caused a slight rise, and the snow is melting fast. The marks at the wharf this morning registered seven feet and rising. The ice has about run out and navigation has been resumed.

The Queen City, notwithstanding the ice, arrived from Cincinnati and departed on time. She is probably the best ice boat on this end of the river.

The Raymond Horner, laid up at Wellsville with a tow of coal, will resume her trip south as soon as it is possible for to do so.

Their Gas Was Short.

The Fort Pitt Gas company was shy of gas this morning owing to a break in their lines at Toronto. The Williams' well was turned into their mains until the break could be repaired.

Harry G. Folts and J. L. Francis Are Partners No More.

A card from Harry G. Folts, printed in a local paper, in which the writer notifies the public that the David and Jonathan affection formerly existing between the writer and James L. Francis, of Chicago, has been summarily dissolved, indicates that there has grown up a lack of fraternal feeling between these leading promoters of the Lisbon and East Liverpool railroad scheme. The assurance is given, however, that this will not militate in the least against the prospects for the road.—Buckeye State.

LADYSMITH RELIEVED.

News Officially Announced In London Today.

BULLER GETS THROUGH AT LAST

End of the Three Month's Advance to the Relief of the Besieged Town—Garrison In Good Spirits But Badly Ravaged by Disease and Wounds.

LONDON, March 1.--Special--It is officially announced this afternoon that Ladysmith has been relieved.

The war department has just made public a dispatch from Buller, dated at that place, stating that the relief column has at last raised the siege, after one last desperate rally by the besieging Boers, who have drawn off to the north, preparatory to defending the entrance into the Transvaal through the Drakenberg range.

The list of British losses has not yet been announced, but it is not believed to have been so large as was feared the price of Ladysmith's relief would be.

The news of the relief was discounted by the announcement in these dispatches yesterday stating that Buller hoped to enter the town last night or today. Press dispatches now arriving from the lately beleaguered city state that they found the defending garrison in dreadful plight, but overjoyed at their relief. The non-combatants suffered worst. The ravages of disease caused by bad water and the unhealthy situation in the cooped-up town were visible on all hands. The spirit of the garrison, however, is described as having been excellent, which is best borne out by the magnificent defense made. The earlier disasters which led to the siege of Ladysmith and the subsequent reverses of Buller's forces in attempting the relief are more than compensated in military glory by the stanch defense made by the force under Sir George White.

Following as closely upon French's relief of Kimberley and Roberts' victory over Cronje, which marked the turning point in the war, English enthusiasm over the successful advance on Ladysmith has not been so wildly demonstrative as might have been expected. The success of French and Roberts showed the English people that the situation was now well in hand and Ladysmith's relief, which a month ago would have been welcomed with frantic delight, was received with stoical confidence as if it were but an incident in the list of British victories expected from now on. Of course the lighter element indulged in the customary ebullition of noisy transport, but the great mass of the public take it as stated. The British march to Pretoria is now regarded as only a matter of time. The average Englishman may tell you that of course there'll be some fighting but really it will not amount to much. Bobs and Kicthener are there and are held to be invincible. The war party is in the saddle and the peace advocates have taken to the woods.

Ladysmith has been besieged since November 2. Buller took command October 2. The Boers invaded Natal October 12. The British, under General Penn Symons, advanced to meet them, and were repulsed October 20 at Glencoe, Symons being killed. Next day the Gloucestershire regiment, part of the Dublin Fusiliers and a battery were captured by the Boers. White's force then retired upon Ladysmith and were closed up by the Boers. Buller, advancing to their relief, was defeated at Colenso November 15, eighteen miles from Ladysmith. Later he crossed the Tugela three times, and was driven back each time. Two weeks ago he tried a new plan, and the diversion caused by Roberts' advance in the west drew off a large part of the enemy before Ladysmith, allowing Buller to proceed. The capture of Pieter's hill by the Inniskilling Fusiliers Tuesday opened up the way at last, and the relief column went through last night. It is likely Buller will now advance into the Transvaal by Laing's nek pass, or at at least make an attempt to do so, keeping the force under Joubert occupied while Roberts advances on Bloemfontein and thence by the west to Pretoria.

CRONJE UNDER ESCORT.

He and His Family Started From Roberts' Camp, In Charge of Major General Prettyman.

LONDON, March 1.—The war office received a dispatch from Lord Roberts, containing the following:

"PAARDEBERG, Feb. 28.—Cronje, with his family, left here yesterday in charge of Major General Prettyman and under the escort of the City Imperial volunteers and mounted infantry.

"Later in the day the remaining prisoners went in charge of the Earl of Erroll and escorted by the Gloucesters and 100 Imperial volunteers. The women and children are being sent to their homes. I understand that great dissatisfaction was felt by the Boers at Cronje's refusal to accept my offer of safe conduct to the women and children, and medical care for the wounded, 170 of whom are now in our hospital. Very many of them are in a terrible plight for want of care at an earlier stage.

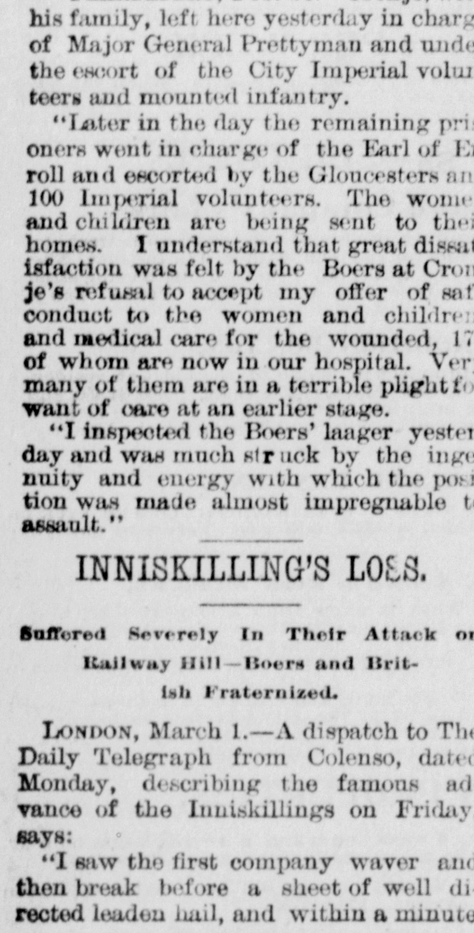

"I inspected the Boers' laager yesterday and was much struck by the ingenuity and energy with which the position was made almost impregnable to assault."

INNISKILLING'S LOSS.

Suffered Severely In Their Attack on Railway Hill—Boers and British Fraternized.

LONDON, March 1.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Colenso, dated Monday, describing the famous advance of the Inniskillings on Friday, says:

"I saw the first company waver and then break before a sheet of well directed leaden hail, and within a minute

MAJOR RICHARD ALBRECHT.

A Foreign Officer, Who Was With Cronje, Captured by the British.

not a man was left standing. It seemed to me that the brave company of fusiliers was annihilated.

"Shortly afterward, however, I could see some of them move, then rise, and finally walk quietly to the rear, taking cover. The supporting company was also cut up, but not so severely.

"The Boers are placed on high, unassailable kopjes; and it would take ten times their number to carry these positions successfully. The kopjes command the railway from Colenso to Ladysmith, and a real right flank attack is rendered impossible, owing to a high and precipitous ravine which opens upon the Tugela, while the left is too open and void of cover and cannot be seriously considered as a means of assault.

"The Boers and British fraternized during yesterday's armistice. It is reported that 4,000 Boers have left the vicinity of Ladysmith for Dundee."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Pieters' station, dated Sunday, Feb. 25, and descrivtng the 12 days' continuous fighting, of which the attack upon Railway hill by the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers was one of the supreme movements, said in part: "The Inniskillings joined the column with 24 officers. They have five left. That tells the tale."

SORROW OF THE QUEEN.

She Cabled Deep Regret For Losses of the Irish Troops, With General Buller.

LONDON, March 1.—The queen telegraphed General Buller as follows: "I have heard with the deepest concern the heavy losses sustained by my brave Irish soldiers, and I desire to express my sympathy and admiration of the splendid fighting qualities they have exhibited throughout these trying operations."

In her dispatch to Lord Roberts following the announcement of the surrender of General Cronje, her majesty said:

"Accept for yourself and for all under your command, my warmest congratulations on this splendid news."

Lord Roberts replied as follows:

"All under my command are deeply grateful for your majesty's most gracious message. Congratulations from their queen are an honor the soldiers dearly prize."

General Buller wired his thanks to the queen for her telegram of "gracious sympathy and encouragement."

Third Avenue Offered Firm Resistance and Once Actually Rose—Other Features of the Market.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Additional mechanics' liens were piled up Wednesday upon the assets of the Third avenue, and a receiver was appointed; yet the stock offered firm resistance at Tuesday's low level, and rose at one time as much as 8½. The franchise tax commission, which recent rumors by professional bears have credited with a purpose to practically confiscate the net earnings of local corporations, began its sittings Wednesday, but the stocks of the New York public utilities rose from 2½ to 6 points. Public reports alleged continued demoralization and cutting of prices of Sugar, and the conviction of professional speculations remains unshaken that the next dividend will be cut; but Sugar shows a net gain of 3¼.

The simple explanation is that bear traders have been selling these stocks without holding certificates with which to make delivery, and when they tried to buy they found a horde of traders in the same situation, and a lively competition sprang up to secure the floating supply. People's Gas, the Tobacco stocks, a number of the metal stocks, Western Union and some others which have been under recent pressure moved upward under the same pressure. Relieved of the elements of acute weakness which have recently dragged it back, the railroad list rose strongly and quite uniformly, the exceptions being stocks which have already advanced in face of the recent weakness.

The movement in Grangers, led by Burlington, was based on the fall of snow in the northwest, which is believed to afford security to the wheat in the ground, as was reflected by the downward tendency of that cereal on the grain exchanges. This movement is of special interest, as being the first of any moment in the stock market founded on the prospects of this year's crop, thus ushering in a new influence and hazard, which will play a growing part in the problem of values. The closing was strong and active at about the best.

The bond market was not very active, but was firm. Total sales, par value, $1,595,000.

United States 5s, coupon, advanced ½, and do registered old 4s and 3s ¼, and new 4s declined ½ in the bid price.

AGAINST THE WOMEN.

Resolution Proposing Giving Them Right to Vote, Defeated In House, at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, March 1.—The house defeated a resolution proposing to amend the constitution by giving women the right to vote at all elections after Jan. 1, 1901, by 49 nays to 57 yeas. Eighty nine votes were required to adopt. The proposition received more votes than in any previous legislature.

The senate unanimously passed the Roberts bill, creating a state board for the examination of stationary engineers, and it is now a law.

Wants to See Home Again.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—William Crawford, of Junction City, Ky., was a passenger on the Pennsylvania southwestern express, on his way from Europe to his home. Mr. Crawford is 77 years old and is a veteran of the Mexican war. He was hurt on a government transport while serving under General Zachary Taylor, and while visiting his birthplace at Oldham, England, suffered a paralytic stroke, resulting from an injury he had received so many years before. He hoped to see his bluegrass home before his death.

If Finance Bill Becomes Law.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—It is authoritatively stated at the treasury department that in case the pending finance bill becomes a law the exchange of old bonds for the new 2 per cents will be made in the order in which they are actually received at the treasury, after the bill becomes a law.

Pennsy Gets Horseshoe Bend.

HARRISBURG, March 1.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company at last has undisputed possession of the famous horseshoe bend, above Altoona, and Altoona now owns the ground on which her waterworks are located. Grants were recently secured from the state.

NIGHT BLOOMING CEREUS.

There is a flower that blooms by night,
When all the land is still,
When only nightingales are heard
And dews their wine distill.
It loveth not the glare of day,
The noise of busy noon,
Alone revealing its pure heart
Unto the lady moon.

When other blossoms lie at rest,
It watches like a saint,
And all night long it wearies not
Until the shadows faint.
Let others call it what they may,
Hope's star it is to me,
That only when the morning comes
From its sweet task is free.

Let other flowers win the praise
Of laughter, mirth and song,
My blossom lights the thorny path
Of grief's unhappy throng,
And when I find it fast asleep,
While suns are shining bright,
I know 'twill waken when I dream
And guide me through the night.

THE CRASH OF HEAVY GUNS.

Fearful Strain of the Concussion Upon the Nerves and Ears.

The stunning report of each gun as it is fired is something that a stranger on the deck will long remember. There is an old saying, "deaf as a post." Now, in the royal navy, this is changed to "deaf as a post captain."

No man can go through a long series of gunnery practices without having his hearing very seriously affected. Some men put cotton wool in their ears, but even this precaution does little to deaden the terrible shock. And if the firing of one or two guns has such a shattering power, what would be the effect if the whole armament were in action together?

It is almost impossible to conceive the strain upon nerve and senses of the rending concussion. If a visitor watches the firing of one of the monster 9 inch guns and then places himself beside one of the smaller pieces, the report made by the one will not appear much louder than that of the other. The extra distance to the muzzle of the big piece discounts the sound. The only apparent difference between the two appears to be that the small pieces have a sharper, higher pitched note, and that the 6 and 9 inch guns speak with more of a bellowing roar.

One piece of advice may be given to any one who finds himself in the neighborhood of a gun in action. The noise will not have nearly the same effect if you are watching the gun as if the crash comes unexpectedly. Unconsciously nature prepares you to resist a shock which is known to be impending.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Popping the Question.

A writer in Lady's Realm says there are certain precautions which all lovers should take when proposing. Never propose, says an old student of woman, when returning from the theater. She will be still under the spell of one of the actors, and beside his romantic figure you dwindle into insignificance. It is better to propose on the way to the theater or some entertainment. Rather than upset an evening's enjoyment by rejecting your suit, she will accept you. Never, continues our mentor, propose to a young lady after having a meal with her. Her imagination is chilled by the process of digestion, while there is nothing that so degrades a man in a girl's eyes as to see him eat a hearty meal.

Was it not Charlotte Bronte who lost her admiration for Thackeray after seeing him eat? On the occasion of their first meeting at a dinner party Thackeray took Charlotte Bronte down to dinner. Thackeray was hungry, and as he ate steadily at his dinner her admiration and awe gradually faded away. At last, when she saw the great man of her visions attacking a huge potato, she called out in despair, "Oh, don't, Mr. Thackeray!"

A Happy Expedient.

Some few years back a colonel commanding some marines was much exercised in his mind as to how to deal with two of his men who were continually fighting. Threats, pack drill and even cells were tried, but were of no avail. No sooner were they free than they flew at one another and were at it again with worse results than before.

At last he hit on a happy expedient. The next time the men were brought before him he set them to clean all the windows in the barracks, one inside, the other out, and neither to go to the next window till the other had finished. The next morning they started, and after glaring at one another for three or four windows the situation became too ludicrous. They both burst out laughing and have been good friends ever since.—London Answers.

Tragedy In an Alderman's Office.

PITTSBURG, March 1.—William Jackson, a butler for H. J. Heinz, shot and probably mortally wounded Annie Houston, colored, with whom he was in love, and then suicided, in Alderman Negley's office, on Collins avenue. He had made information against the woman and Rufus Brown, colored, who was present.

The Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Board of trade markets were quiet Wednesday. The heavy snowfall was a bearish influence in wheat, May closing ⅞@1c under Tuesday. May corn and May oats closed each a shade down. May pork closed 15c depressed, May lard 2½@5c lower and May ribs 5c down.

Condition of E. J. Phelps.

NEW HAVEN, March 1.—The condition of F. J. Phelps, ex-minister to England, while not critical is still as serious as it has been for some weeks.

Fire In Connellsville.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 1.—Fire broke out in the large frame Stillwagon building on the corner of Main and Pittsburg streets, and for a time it appeared as if the whole business center of the town would be swept away, the wind raging at a rate of 40 miles an hour. The whole Stillwagon building was gutted and drenched with water. The loss was about $15,000, covered by insurance.

FAMOUS LOST RIVER.

A PECULIAR STREAM WHICH SUDDENLY DISAPPEARS.

It Sinks Into the Earth Through an Unfathomable Hole and Bursts Forth Again From a Hill Miles Away and Then Repeats the Trick.

Famous Lost river manifests its strange disposition through the northern and eastern sections of Orange county, Ind. The river, parent of all smaller ones, gushes from a bluff in Washington county, a stream with strong current which carries everything before it. It runs in well defined banks for several miles and then suddenly disappears. Near Orleans it sinks into a great cavernous hole which might very readily be taken as the entrance to the lower regions and from which the river gained its secondary name, the river Styx. The sink is black and unfathomable and even in the driest season has never been explored, although it has been ascertained that the descent is gradual and about 590 feet.

Several miles from the first sink the stream comes forth from the side of a hill and, after running on the surface a mile or more, again sinks. By sawdust and wooden ball tests it has been ascertained that another stream which rushes from the side of a bluff eight miles distant in altogether another section of the country is a continuation of Lost river. This disappears in another sink, runs through an underground passage a mile or more in length and finally empties into White river.

It is claimed the subterranean streams do not follow a single channel, but that the entire section is honeycombed by a complex system of mains and leads.

Lost river was evidently a surface stream thousands of years ago. There is a well defined, deep rock bed leading from sink hole to sink, and in freshet season, when the volume of water becomes too great for the subterranean passageways to carry, the overflow follows the old river bed and joins the subterranean streams at the "rises." The old surface course is overgrown with trees and briers and some of these indicate that the surface course has not been used for at least centuries. Another evidence of its long habit of following underground sinks is shown by the mound builders' earthworks thrown up at various points where the river sinks away. Some of these mounds are the finest found north of the Ohio river.

Of the surface tributaries to Lost river the most remarkable is known as Stamper creek, which gushes forth from the sides of a bluff near Millersburg. It has a rampant little current which carries everything with it to a sink hole a mile distant. No one knows exactly where it comes out, but some claim it makes its appearance at Spring Mills, six miles south. Here Lick creek bursts out of the base of a hill, just in the rear of the mill. Farther down stream Lick creek sinks away from view, and then comes up and flows to New Prospect, where it empties into Lost river.

There are several other surface feeders which are quite as freakish. Near them are found caverns through which subterranean streams flow. They are filled with eyeless fishes and water animals. In some the streams have a swift current and are evidently part of the Lost river system. At certain points in the county the surface has caved in and shows Lost river running underground to the depth of 100 feet. How the water is again elevated to the surface is not known. The passageways are through white rock, worn smooth and white by the water.

Those who have made a study of the subterranean streams of Indiana and Kentucky have advanced the theory that away below the surface of Indiana—in at least the southern portion—there is a secondary great system of waterways and subterranean rivers. Some geologists of note have concurred in this theory. It is known that such streams do exist in the extreme southern section. Wyandotte and other caves owe their origin to these streams. Some years ago a subterranean stream was found running under Rush county, almost 70 miles northeast. The water can be heard roaring through the passageways and at times the course seems to be overtaxed. It evidently flows a great distance from the northeast and probably has its source in the St. Lawrence river system. At English a flood resulted in the discovery of another lost river. A new cavern was opened by the water in Crawford county.

The attractiveness of Lost river and its tributaries is enhanced greatly by the weird, wild scenery of Orange county. There is no section of the state where the scenery is more striking and diversified.

Near the mouth of the river are the famous West Baden and French Lick springs, which throw off a water brackish in taste and green cast in color, which has become noted over the entire world.—Indianapolis Press.

He Once Knew Something.

A middle aged gentleman who has been looking over his old school examination papers writes to The Academy expressing his chagrin at the discovery of the fact that he knows less than he did years ago. "I knew some things then—arithmetic, for example. Today I am at the mercy of any waiter who brings me change. At booking offices I keep vast crowds waiting and missing their trains while I do laborious subtraction sums in my head, but at school what a hand I was at figures! Look at this:

"'Three graziers, A, B and C, rent a piece of pasture land for a month. A puts on 27 cattle for 21 days, B 19 for 24 days and C 23 for 25 days. If at the end of the month the rent and other charges amount to £23 5s. 10d., how much of this ought to be paid by each?'

"I could do that in 1884. I couldn't do it now. I have no idea where to begin. It may be easy, but the point is that I have not the key. There used to be a jugglery with x, and I could manage it. Now that I pay income tax and have statements of account from my publisher every half year I can manage it no longer. And I seem to have known zoology too. Zoology! I seem to have been able to describe and draw diagrams of the heart and principal blood vessels of the crayfish. Once—good heavens—once I was a well informed boy. Today I don't see how I should pass the third class college of preceptors."—London Academy.

The Navy Man's Life.

"Laymen call our life exciting and think that we see a lot of the world," said the navy man, "but it's a big mistake. What do we know of any of the ports we visit? The pier, other boats that may happen to be there at the same time, and the English club of the town—that's all we see. And it's all we know about. After you've touched at a few ports and gone through the same performance over and over again, you get mighty tired of it.

"As for our life, what is it but a perpetual club life? There are a few professional club demands, but the rest of our time is spent in much the same way that a man spends his at his club—in smoking, reading, in swapping lies, in making oneself agreeable to one's friends who may do him the honor of a visit and in making oneself agreeable to some other fellow's friends who may do him the honor of a visit—that's the sum of our existence, and when you think that's it for day in and day out, you can but agree that a whole lifetime of it might begin to pall.

"It's like wearing evening clothes all the time or spending one's life at the opera, or always having dessert and nothing else for dinner. All play and no work makes a dull boy of almost any Jack. I sometimes wonder how any of us navy men manage to rise superior to our opportunities for sinking into stupidity's lowest depths."—New York Sun.

UNION LABELS

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

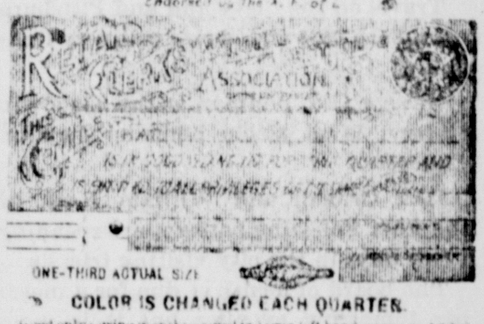

UNION LABEL

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns

MILES GETS IT.

PRESIDENT NAMES HIM FOR POSTMASTER

At Salem—Recommendation of Tayler Goes Through All Right.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The president has sent the following nomination to the senate: To be postmaster, Ohio—Frederick T. Miles, Salem.

Dr. Miles was recommended by Congressman Tayler some months ago The Democratic press have been insisting that the recommendation was held up, but, as usual, their information seems to have been at fault.

MACRUM HOME.

Waiting For Whatever Action Congress May Take on His Complaint.

Hon. Charles E. Macrum, ex-consul to Pretoria, S. A. R., returned from Washington, D. C, yesterday. Asked if he had anything further to say in regard to his complaint against the proceedings of the British censor at Durban, and his own visit to Washington, Mr. Macrum said there was nothing new to be said. He is now awaiting whatever action congress may take in the matter. He has not decided upon his future movements.

Mission Meetings.

The ladies of the Second Presbyterian church will hold a special missionary meeting this evening to consider the Indian and African missions. Next Thursday night they expect to have Mrs. Flora D. Palmer, general secretary of the Freedmen, who will address a popular meeting in the church, to which everybody is invited.

Need Careful Study.

Though I am an old doctor of divinity, to this day I have not got beyond the children's learning, the Ten Commandments, the Creed and the Lord's Prayer, and these I understand not so well as I should, though I study them daily, praying with my son John and my daughter Magdalen.—Martin Luther.
